Mount Joy Dairy Farmers Meet With Officials At Local Kemps Plant

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

MOUNT JOY/LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) - As milk markets changed for local dairymen, new opportunities for partnership emerged. That was the focus of a meeting Tuesday noon when the farmer directors of Mount Joy Milk Cooperative met with officials of Dairylea Cooperative and officials of Crowley Foods at their Kemps Foods fluid milk/manufacturing plant east of Lancaster. For the last month, Mount Joy milk has been received at Kemps.

And apparently the start-up of this new partnership on September 1 has gone well. Everyone who spoke at the meeting that preceeded the tour of the plant expressed admiration for all the other players.

Using such phrases as "a moment in history," "supporting each other," and "quality, honesty, and sincerity," Clyde Rutherford, president of Dairylea, said he was

Dobrosky Honored At KILE Opening

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) - The opening of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition was held in the small arena of the Farm Show Complex Wednesday. Featured on the program was the presentation of the Hall of Fame honoree, the 4-H and FFA Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) youth awards and a video presentation of the various sheep breeds to be shown. KILE this year is honoring the "Year of the Sheep."

Tony Dobrosky, former York County extension agent and well-known for his work with youth, was inducted into the Hall of Fame, and his picture will join other famous people on the wall of the small arena. Serving a lifetime of support for the livestock industry, Dobrosky called his efforts with youth, especially the initiation of the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE in the late '70's, as his most rewarding accomplishments. Dobrosky was

Corn Growers Featured

In the next issue of Lancaster Farming (Oct. 11) we include Corn Talk, a special section dedicated to the corn grower. In cooperation with the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association (PMCGA), this newsletter is published three times per year. Look for an interview with the new PMCGA president, in addition to overviews of the growing year, controlling weeds in sweet corn, news of upcoming meetings, research information, and advertising messages.

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds continued to improve and was about moderate. Seller offerings were less freely offered, but remained fully adequate to ample with the larger sizes in the heavier balance. Live supplies were mostly moderate to heavy; weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 48 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was steady. In the parts complex, breast items continued to move into closer balance particularly supplies of bone-in. Thighs were noted as in close balance, but other leg cuts were ample. Wings were in excess.

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying activity improved slightly as dealers prepared for the weekend and first-of-the month. Offerings were generally in good balance to satisfy most immediate needs with a renewed interest noted on bone-in breasts. Retail and distributive movement was expected to pick up for both the weekend and first of the month. The market tone was steady, although underlying trade sentiment remained cautious.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Grain and soybean bids continued lower, Wednesday, as weather con- tinues favorable for winter wheat planting as well as corn and bean harvesting. Export demand fair for wheat the past couple of days but corn and bean sales scant. Wheat 2 to 6 cents lower. Corn 2 to 5 cents lower. Sorghum steady to 3 cents lower. Soybeans 1 to 6 cents lower. Winter wheat planting has picked up as favorable weather allows. Reports indicate that 40 percent of the winter wheat crop was in the ground as of Sunday. Good export demand for wheat, limited declines. Corn and soybean harvest moving rapidly as good weather continues in the Midwest and Corn Belt areas with only a slight chance of frost forecast for the NW part of the Corn Belt. Export sales slow this week for corn and beans. Transportation problems in the plains have been reported as railroads continue to deliver cars late. Some elevators in Kansas reportedly still have wheat on the ground and widespread piling of fall corn and sorghum crops is likely. A record wheat harvest in this area has compounded storage problems.

FARMING, FINANCING AND WORKING TOGETHER

Remember when being efficient was all it took to be a successful farmer? With some help from mother nature, being efficient is still the key to successful farming. And that, by itself, is a tough job.

Today's farmer has to know financing and marketing as well as production. And today, as in the past, The Ephrata National Bank is here to help.

We've been financing local farming since 1881 and plan to for years to come.

Next time you need some honest advice on financing your farming operation, see your friends at The Ephrata National Bank.

To learn more, call Bob Zook at 717-733-2911.

We've stood the test of time...

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder cattle steady. Steer calves 3.00-5.00 higher; heifer calves steady to 3.00 higher. Demand moderate for feeders. Demand good for calves and greatly improved. Calf market regained last Monday's losses thanks to general rains over the state last Tuesday. Farmers back in the field with wheat planting progessing nicely. Quality of supply plain to average and comparable to last week. Feeder flesh medium. Calf flesh medium to moderately fleshy. Weigh-ups average to full. Lean slaughter cows steady to 2.00 higher, Utilities .50-1.00 lower. Slaughter bulls steady. Packer demand fairly good. Country buyers remain aggressive for thinner young cows for feedlots as well as bred cows under 9 years old. Weigh-ups average to many full. Total of 840 cows and bulls sold with 60 percent going to packers. Receipts this week 10,300; last week 11,211; last year 10,434. Supply consisted of 54 percent yearlings and few calves over 600 lbs; 38 percent calves and light yearlings under 600 lbs, 8 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

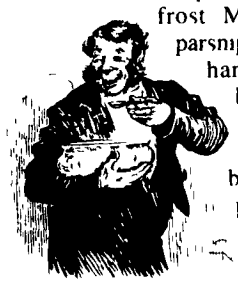
The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

OCTOBER 6-12, 1997

YOM KIPPUR, OCTOBER 11.

WHEN TO PICK A PARSNIP

Autumn and spring are both harvest times for the lowly parsnip, shunned by the unknowing but prized by those who have ever tried them in a good lamb stew. The sweetest parsnips have gone through one hard frost. Many farmers overwinter their parsnips in the garden for early spring harvest, but some cooks say it's best to keep them in moist sand in the root cellar, so their middles won't turn woody. It may be that "Kind words butter no parsnips," but buttery parsnips will bring many a kind word to your table.



Plain cooking cannot be entrusted to plain cooks.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ A dash of nutmeg brings out the parsnip's best flavor.

LAMB AND PARSNIP STEW

- 2 pounds cubed lamb
- 2 medium onions, quartered
- 2-1/2 cups water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 large carrots, scraped and sliced
- 8 small parsnips, scraped and sliced
- 1 bay leaf

Brown lamb in a large stewpot, then add onions and sauté. Add remaining ingredients, bring to a boil, and simmer for up to 2 hours. Remove bay leaf before serving. Juices can be thickened with flour or mashed potato to make gravy, if desired.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

The winds of daytime wrestle and fight longer and stronger than those of the night.

Nature will have her course.

Cold weather is coming when the fire snaps and sparkles.

Look for a long, hard winter if the fox wears a heavy coat.

OPINION

When Children Want To Act Big

We had just completed Farm Safety Week, and farmers again were reminded that they need to take safety precautions around their barns, fields, homes, and roadways to guard against farm-related accidents. This time of year is especially critical as the fall harvest season brings the big machines into play on many farms.

The National Safety Council reports that agriculture is one of the most hazardous occupations in the country. So we must emphasize awareness and if possible, correction of any hazards that may exist around your farm.

In Pennsylvania a total of 44 farm fatalities occurred in 1996. Tractor-related accidents accounted for 24 of those deaths. In a recent press release, State Agriculture Secretary Samuel Hayes, Jr., noted that the use of safety devices is well worth the time and effort to prevent death or serious injury.

We agree. Practice safety, especially with children. Your little people may want a ride or may want to drive the tractor. And even if they are mature enough mentally, they simply don't have the physical strength to hang on to the steering wheel. Do your family a favor and say, "No" when your children want to act big around farm machinery.

To Salute 4-H

October 5 to 11 marks National 4-H Week. This year's theme, "4-H...More Than You Ever Imagined!", reflects the variety of 4-H programming and the diversity of the lives and backgrounds of 4-H youth throughout our country.

This year we are implementing a special program, Hearts and Hands in Action. This program will emphasize community service projects. 4-H members will be developing Service Learning Projects. These projects will have learning, citizenship and personal and social development objectives.

Members will look at their areas of interests and develop various service projects. These could include food and fitness classes for children, a farm day for preschoolers, a community garden or tutor young children in reading, math or science. 4-H offers many exciting educational, citizenship and leadership opportunities. For more information on this exciting youth program, contact your county cooperative extension office.

To Check Yield Monitors

Yield monitors need certain pre-harvest maintenance. If you are using a yield monitor on your combine for the first time, make sure you take time to calibrate the monitor. This calibration should be done using a wide range of conditions, including yield levels and moisture levels. The wider the range of conditions, the more accurate the monitor will perform. For all monitors, check the grain flow and moisture sensors for cleanliness and dirt build up. Check the stainless steel plates on the grain flow sensor for wear. Check all cables for physical damage. Check yield monitor data cards and replace batteries. Remove last year's data from the memory of the yield monitor. Check any GPS receiver for proper operation and signal strength.

To Participate in FSA Elections

October 27 is the last day to file nominations for your Farm Service Agency (FSA) County Committee elections. On November 21 ballots will be mailed to eligible voters and the ballots must be returned to your county FSA office by December 1.

All farm owners, operators, tenants and sharecroppers including spouses, of legal age may vote if they are eligible to take part in any FSA program. It is important for all eligible farmers to participate in this process. FSA county committees make decisions on commodity price support loans and payments; establish allotments, yields and marketing quotas; eligibility for farm loans and conservation programs; incentive, indemnity and disaster payments for some commodities and other disaster assistance.

In order to make the county committee system work, it must represent all parts of local agriculture. Now is the time to contact your FSA office to register to vote and file a nomination form if you would like to serve on the county committee.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ARE YOU A DISPLACED PERSON?

October 5, 1997

Background Scripture:
Daniel 1
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 40:1-11

In a day in which life is so full of soaring complexities, ambiguities and uncertainties, for those of us who can remember what at least seemed like simpler, more comprehensible and manageable times, looking back to life then may make us feel like displaced persons today.

Despite the fact that most of these were the Depression years in our nation, I remember the days when everything else seemed easier and more virtuous. Whether they really were "easier and more virtuous" is a matter of some dispute. Nevertheless, I sometimes feel that although my body is firmly planted in the 1990s, my insides are tuned to life four or five decades previous.

I can therefore imagine how it must have felt to be a Jewish exile in Nebuchadnezzar's Babylon. Many of these people were determined to remain faithful to their God and live as devout Jews. But, despite their high resolve, it was a different world in which they found themselves and living as devout Jews was extremely difficult.

In many ways, it was a better life, at least economically speaking. Babylon was prosperous as Judah had never been. The Babylonian culture was rich, varied and often luxurious. But, despite the material advantages, the spiritual atmosphere was not supportive of their faith.

IGNORING OUR CHOICE

Their dilemma is somewhat similar to what we face today. While life in these United States may not so much oppose or persecute followers of Christ, neither does our culture make it easy to truly follow him. The values of our society are obviously very different from those in the New Testament. Although our coins declare, "In God We Trust," our daily living, economics and political life testify that we really believe much more in other things. Many of us survive or even prosper by making compromises. We get along by going along and if we can spread a thin veneer of Christian catchwords over our society it keeps us from realizing that real Chritianity would compel us to make a choice.

It is difficult for us to understand why observing the dietary laws of Judaism was so important to the exiles. It is enough for us to realize that the dietary laws were a major support to their Judaism. The Judean community was gone, the temple in ruins and Jerusalem far away, but the dietary laws were one pillar that could sustain them. We have to respect their choice even as we want others to respect ours.

So, when Daniel and his friends were put into Nebuchadnezzar's training program, in order to preserve their Jewish identity they decided to refuse to eat the high-level cuisine the king had ordered for them. They wanted to remain on a Kosher diet and thereby witness to their loyalty to the Lord. So, Daniel asked Ashpenaz, who had been assigned responsibility for the program, to permit him and his friends to abstain from the king's cuisine.

TRY IT!

We can appreciate Ashpenaz's hesitation, but Daniel saved the day by proposing, "Test your servants for ten days; let us be given vegetables to eat and water to drink. Then let our appearance and the appearance of the youths who eat the king's rich food be observed by you, and according to what you see deal with your servants"(1:12,13). Ashpenaz agreed to put it to a test.

Who was it said that the problem is not that Christianity has been tried and found wanting, but that it has never been sufficiently tried. If Christianity is what we say it is, then we should never hesitate to put it to the test. We should never shrink from demonstrating that the gospel of Jesus Christ is the best way for us to live. Maybe the reason we spend so much time arguing religion is that it is easier than practicing it.

The fact is, life is deeper, richer and more victorious when we live by the example of Jesus Christ. And even when we are "displaced persons" in a strange land, we can live that life and demonstrate the truth of the gospel.

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK
October 5-11, 1997

4-H clubs from across the country are doing community service activities during 4-H Week, October 5-11, 1997. The campaign goal is to motivate youth to become involved in helping their communities through volunteer and community service projects. The campaign's premise is that youth are an untapped resource in their community and that youth and their volunteer efforts can be of benefit to themselves and their communities. 4-H will provide the infrastructure to create a close connection between young people and community programs.

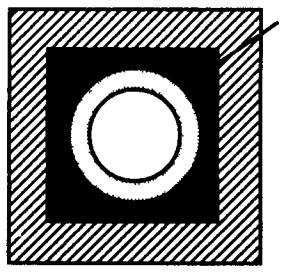
... For New Construction Why Not Examine The "Chimtek Difference."



Chimtek Inner Liners are madeof volcanic pumice and high-tempertature refractory cements, Its round shape provides even temperature inside flue and contributes to efficient flow of smoke and flue gasses The volcanic pumice in Chimteck liners adds considerable insulating value.

All three chimneyliner systems disbrttubed by DS Machine Shop are of super design, super performance, and super value. With all their advantages these chimney systems often cost no more than ordinary chimneys. Write or call us for more specific liner information.

ATTENTION TOBACCO FARMERS
FIRST TOBACCO SALE: December 1, 1997
Sale Every Mon., Wed. & Fri. Until January 17 -
Last Sale for 609 Tobacco and Type 41.
Last year Type 609 tobacco started out at $1.65 per pound and ended at $1.92 as long as auction was open.
We at Paradise make the farmer money. Don't get scared and sign a contract from bull stories.
Farmer, you will hear a lot from county buyers in the field such as our tobacco goes overseas, and so forth. With Contracts signed in the country it's hard for Paradise to raise prices.
P.S. We have a strong demand for Type 41 tobacco at Paradise. Make Paradise your Type 41 marketplace. We Need 41 and 609.
We Will Be On Your Farm Soon With Top Quality, Rocky Mountain Cotton Twine - Not Seconds. Remember, There Is A Difference.

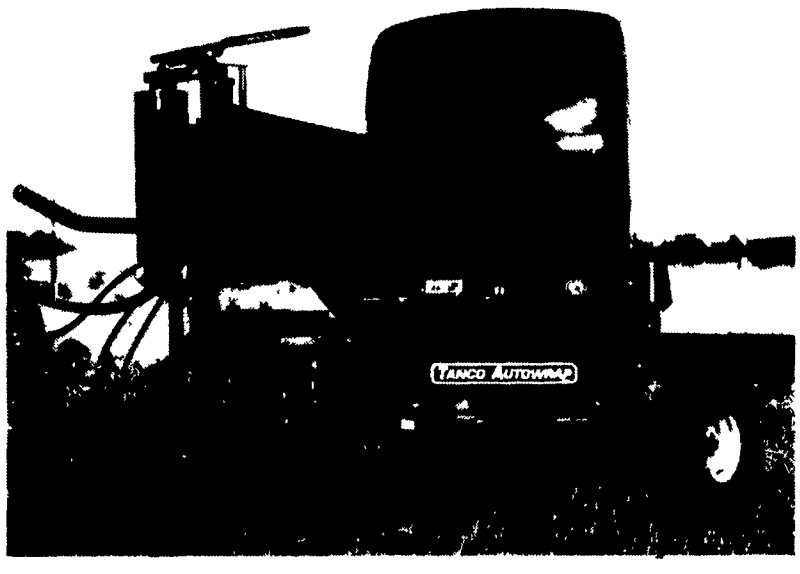
TANCO AUTOWRAP
THE WRAPPER THAT WRAPS BALES OTHERS WON'T
A complete range of Round, Square & Rectangular Wrappers.



Patented advantages like the unique "Deep Cradle" continuous full width belt, and fully supported turntable where four poly-urethane wheels provide Tanco's renowned even and balanced operation, even with overweight and misshapen bales. Quality wrapping and quality machines that has made Tanco among the World's leading manufacturers.
Why spend your dollars on a "job shop" type machine that requires a large tractor, needs near perfect bales to work properly, and is scary to see in operation.

4-Year-Old Holstein Supre

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A 4-year-old Holstein owned by a Jefferson, Md.-based syndicate was named supreme champion of the six national and regional dairy cattle breed shows held last week at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg as part of the 34th annual Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show (PAADS).

Kerrose Flyer Lauren, a 4-year-old Holstein owned by the syndicate of Gerald Todd, Fred Strouse, Frank Connelly, and Ron Hefner, was made supreme champion of PAADS within minutes of being named grand champion of the Eastern National Holstein Show.

Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr. presented the supreme champion banner during final ceremonies.

The week-long PAADS event features six regional shows and national shows for the breed associations, as well as two major cattle sales and the Pennsylvania Fall Holstein Championship.

The supreme champion is selected from the grand champions of each of the six dairy shows, by several of the judges.

In addition, Pennsylvania's statewide youth dairy program culminates with the 4-H and FFA shows of the six recognized dairy breeds.

The results from the youth shows were reported in Lancaster Farming last week. Results of the other shows continue this week.

The national shows included the All-American Ayrshire Show, the All-American Milking Shorthorn Show, the National Guernsey Show, the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show, the Eastern National Holstein Show, and the Mid-Atlantic Regional Jersey Show.

This year there were youth division (also called "junior") shows for each of the breeds. A supreme champion is not selected from among the youth divisions.

Eastern National Holstein Show

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the open division of the Eastern National Holstein Show was an aged cow, Penn Gate Chief Mark Alice, a champion show cow owned by Robert Gitt and Steve and Christina Wood of Penn Gate Farm in Littlestown.

Alice was named best bred and owned of the show, and Penn Gate Farm was named premier breeder and exhibitor of the show, a repeated fete.

The junior champion of the Holstein show was a spring yearling, Tri-Day BC Venus-TW, owned by Sarah Day of Tri-Day Holsteins in Shippensburg.

The reserve junior champion of the open division was a summer yearling, Headline Charles Anna Mary, owned by Shannon Head of Headline Farm in Waterville, N.Y. That animal was also named junior champion of the youth division show.

The senior and grand champion of the youth division show was a junior 2-year-old, MS Hygerian Samantha, owned by Elliott Kueffner of Kueffner Holsteins and Jerseys in Boonsboro, Md.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was also a junior 2-year-old, Tri-Day Jenny Jones, owned by Amy Iager of Maple Lawn Farm in Fulton, Md.

The reserve junior champion of the youth division was a fall yearling, Windy-Knoll-View JJB Pizow, bred and owned by James Justin Burdette of Windy-Knoll-View Farm in Mercersburg.

The best bred and owned of the youth division was a 5-year-old, Ladys Manor Hanna C Star ET, owned by Harold E. Smith III of My Ladys Manor Farm Inc., Baldwin, Md.

All-American Aryshire Show

A 6-year-old Ayrshire, Sunny Acres JJ Bouquet, owned by Doug Evans and family of Sunny Acres Farm in Georgetown, N.Y., was named the open division senior and grand champion of the All-American Ayrshire Show.

Bouquet was also named the best bred and owned cow of the show, as well as the total performance winner of the show.

The Evans family's entries in the show garnered several other top honors. The family was named premier breeder and exhibitor of the show.

Although not necessarily a traditional recognition, the Ayrshire show recognizes an intermediate champion — 2- and 3-year-old cows in milk — as well as senior champions from older cows.

The reserve intermediate champion of the open division was a junior 3-year-old, Sunny Acres Darlene, owned by David Patrick of Maple Dell Farm, Woodbine, Md.

The junior champion of the open division was a spring yearling, Jemi Heligo Polly Anna, owned by Jeffrey and Michele Reasner of Shippensburg.

In the youth division show (the All-American Junior Ayrshire Show), Andrew Evans' 2-year-old Jypsy cow was named both the grand and intermediate champion.

In the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show, the senior and grand champion was a 7-year-old aged cow, Laubs Kayson Krissy, owned by GS Associates of New Windsor, Md.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was the second place aged cow, Sample Hill Sally, owned by Jennifer Keilholtz, of Glad Ray Farm in Emmitsburg, Md.

The Pennsylvania Brown Swiss 2-year-old Futurity was held in conjunction with the show. The winner was Viking Pride Chall Marisa, owned by Michael Kunkle of Viking Pride farm in Jonestown.

The junior and reserve junior champions of the open division show were also the junior and reserve junior champions of the youth division show.

The junior champion was a fall calf, GS FLJ Tippy ET, owned by Jami Savage of Savage-Leigh Farm in Knoxville, Md.

The reserve junior champion was a winter yearling, Glad Ray Peer Eliza, owned by Chris Keilholtz, also of Glad Ray Farm.

Senior and grand champion of the youth division show was a senior 3-year-old, Shen-Val Combo Candace, owned by Jeremy McDonald of Shen-Val Farm in Stephens City, Va.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was also a senior 3-year-old, Brothers Three Nutty Buddy, owned and bred by Joshua Hushon of Brothers Three Brown Swiss in Delta.

In addition to the heifers and cows, there are bull classes in the Eastern Brown Swiss open division show.

Wayne Sliker, of Top Acres Farm in St. Paris, Ohio, showed the champion bull, a senior calf, Top Acres Peerless Web ET.

The reserve champion bull was a junior yearling, Smith Mead JW Reflection, owned by George Williams Smith III of Frederick, Md.

Mid-Atlantic Region Jersey Show

A 5-year-old Jersey, WF Barber Shasta, owned by Todd Stiles of Waverly Farm in Clearbrook, Va., was named senior and grand champion of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Jersey Show.

Shasta was also named the best bred and owned of the show, while Claire Dufford of Waverly Farm was named premier breeder and exhibitor.

A 4-year-old, Ron-Net Maple Dorie Dee, owned by Elliott Kueffner of Keuffner Hoslteins and Jerseys in Boonsboro, Md., was named reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the open division show.

Also, Kueffner's Dorie Dee was named senior and grand champion of the Jersey youth division show.

The open division junior champion was a summer yearling, Cumberlands Miss Renaissance, owned by Mike Heath of Westminster, Md.

The open division reserve junior champion was a winter calf, Shamrock Jude Julianna, owned by Ernest Kueffner of Keuffner Holsteins and Jerseys.

In other results of the youth division show, the reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a senior 2-year-old, Triple S Imperial Minuet, owned by Ryan Savage of Savage-Leigh Holsteins in Knoxville, Md.

The best bred and owned was a 5-year-old, Reich-Dale Brigadier Sandra Dee, owned by Curtis Reichard of Reich-Dale Jerseys in Chambersburg.

The junior champion of the youth division show was a fall yearling, DKG Imperial Ruffles, owned by Amy Iager of Maple Lawn Farm in Fulton, Md.

National Guernsey

The senior and grand champion of the open division of the National Guernsey show was a 4-year-old, Holcombs P April, owned by Donald Holcomb of Holcombs Guernsey Farm in Greeene, N.Y.

April was also named the best bred and owned.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the show was a 3-year-old, Burgess Farm T F Aloe, owned by Catherine Huckins and Bruce Ells of Huckins Farm in Ashland, N.H.

The winner of the Pennsylvania 3-year-old Guernsey Futurity, held in conjunction with the national show, was Peb L Brook Perfecto Bubbles, owned by Scott and Elsie Wolff of Hollow View Farm in Quarryville, and Peb-L-Brook Farm.

The junior champion was a summer yearling, Misty Meadows Jasper Melita, owned by Beth Anne Clark of Misty Meadows Farm in Bedford.

Pa. Posts Graded Feeder Cattle Sale Dates

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The following dates have been released for the fall Pennsylvania graded feeder cattle sales. These dates have been selected so area producers can plan ahead to market their feeder cattle. Interested buyers should plan on attending these sales to fill their needs.

Cattle will be sold in uniform lots according to grade, weight, sex, and breed or color. Some sales will not accept cattle with dairy breeding, yearlings, bulls, or cattle with horns. Personnel from the Livestock Division of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Market Development will grade the cattle for frame size and muscle thickness, using USDA Feeder Cattle grading standards.

The 1997 sale dates and locations are as follows:

State Council Honors Sen. Madigan

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations (PSCFO) held a special post-meeting reception in the state Capitol this week to honor state Sen. Roger Madigan, a long-time supporter of state agriculture and rural issues.

The PSCFO is an umbrella organization for Pennsylvania's agricultural groups. It serves as a catalyst for the discussion of public issues and policies, as well as a networking organization with the ability to bring a rapid and industry wide understanding of the context and perspective of issues.

Earl Fink, president of the 72-member PSCFO, said that the event was being held in recognition of Sen. Madigan's receiving a recent national honor from the National Republican Legislators Association, "Legislator of the Year."

While the national honor is not directly related to agriculture, Madigan, a dairy farmer, has long been recognized as one of the state's stronger supporters of agriculture.

Fink said that members of the PSCFO encouraged the reception, attended by members of the state's leading farm organizations, and Senate and House agricultural committee staff.

"He has been a friend of agriculture," Fink said. "He has been in active in establishing the Ag 2000 legislation, Farmland Preservation, and landowner rights.

"Being in the dairy industry, he has always been a friend," said Fink, who is also in leadership with the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers.

On behalf of the PSCFO, Fink presented Madigan with a tractor-designed mailbox, because it was realized that Madigan has received many plaques over the years and would remember this token of appreciation every day, when he checked his mail.

Others, such as Sen. Noah Wenger, acting chairman of the Senate Agricultural and Rural Affairs Committee, and former state Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff, also said a few words in praise of Madigan's support of the state's agricultural and rural communities.

Madigan told the group that being named Legislator of the Year by the National Republicans and being additionally honored by his colleagues and friends, "Means a lot to me, having worked with and for agriculture all of my life."

Pa. Council Of Cooperatives Meeting

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The 1997 Pennsylvania Council of Cooperative's (PCC's) annual meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 23, at the Penn Stater Conference Center Hotel on the Penn State University Park Campus.

The program, which begins at noon and concludes with a leadership recognition banquet, will focus on the area of economics and finance.

Speaking to the group of regional cooperative cooperative leaders will be John M. Urbanchuk, vice president of the Moorsetown, N.J. firm of AUS Consults, Inc., and Lee Estenson, vice president and Lending Team Manager of the St. Paul Bank for Cooperatives in St. Paul, Minn. Urbanchuk brings to his presentation extensive experience in applied economic research and corporate strategic planning. Estenson, in addition to his management responsibilities, serves as St. Paul Bank's lead loan officer in grain processing industries and in new venture cooperative projects.

A highlight of the day will come during the Leadership Recognition Banquet with the presentation of three awards honoring individuals who have been especially active or effective in their committment and cooperative education.

Bloomsburg Fair Boasts Increase In Exhibitors

JUDY PATTON
Union Co. Correspondent

BLOOMSBURG (Columbia Co.) — Agricultural exhibits at the 143rd Bloomsburg Fair held recently increased by four percent over last year in spite of avian flu, summer drought, and adverse economic conditions for farmers.

New features at this year's fair included having 4-H clubs "leasing" animals to urban kids for livestock shows, Spam and Pillsbury recipe contests, and a dress-up livestock fun night.

The Bloomsburg Fair also has a website, which is the largest of its kind on the Internet. "Martha the Cow" fields questions about the fair on e-mail, a trivia contest is conducted (which a Taiwanese girl won), and a guest book provides a forum for opinions about the fair. The web address is www.bloomsburgfair.com.

At the Eastern Central District Holstein Show on Sept. 24, Judge Norman Hill of Woodbine, Md., chose Pen-Col Leadman Dewdrop as grand champion as well as best udder of show. Nicholas Wolff of Millville exhibited this first place 5-year-old. The reserve champion was C Watavue Flora Broker, a 4-year-old shown by John Rishel of Mifflinburg. There were 61 exhibitors in the competition.

The top placings in each class follow.

Patrick Captures Another Swine Trophy — This Time At New Holland

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Riding on the wave of the recent Denver Swine Show championship, Patrick Good did it again — picking up supreme champion swine at the New Holland Farmers' Fair Tuesday evening.

Patrick, 18, son of Amos and Patricia Good, Lititz, is a senior at Warwick. He showed a 254-pound light heavyweight champion, a Hampshire/Yorkshire crossbred pig, to supreme champion.

This was also Patrick's first New Holland swine championship.

Show judge Brian Kreider from Lebanon said that "one pig sticks out in terms of leanness and muscling" when he awarded the light heavyweight champion trophy to Patrick. The gilt was obtained from Oscar Manbeck, Bethel.

Reserve champion overall was the heavyweight champion shown by P. Jacob Brubaker, also a Hampshire/Yorkshire crossbred gilt weighing 268 pounds.

Jacob, 13, is the son of Doug and Brenda Brubaker, Kinzers. Jacob is in the 7th grade at Pequea Valley Intermediate School.

The reserve champion hog was obtained from Mose King, near Quarryville, from a herd owned by John B. Fisher, according to Jacob. Jacob's father, Doug, said the hog was fed a 16½ percent protein.

This was Doug's first New Holland champion. He will be showing at the state Farm show.

In the showmanship contest, senior champion went to Lisa Pfautz, junior went to Doug Stoltzfus, and amateur went to Jennifer Hughes.

There were a total of 34 exhibitors and 78 hogs at the swine show. Following is a list of show placings.

Farmers Perform Haylift

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland farmers have been making hay for their drought-stricken colleagues and a "haylift" operation has been quietly under way involving at least five Maryland counties.

Hay producers or just farmers with hay to spare in Calvert, St. Marys, and Wicomico counties have already donated hay to farmers in need. The donated hay has gone to farmers in Carroll and Frederick counties. The Maryland Farm Bureau has coordinated the effort.

Most of the hay so far has gone into Frederick County, which is the state's leading dairy county and has been particularly hard hit by the 1997 drought. To date, approximately 10 farmers have donated hay with about 20 tons of the amount shipped.

"Anyone who has any feed available either for donation or sale should contact the Maryland Farm Bureau or their local county extension agent," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley.

Any farmer with hay to donate should contact the Maryland Farm Bureau at (410) 922-3426.

Oley, Kutztown Steer Winner Picks Up Reading Supreme

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Ben Weist knows how to show a champion.

The steer that Ben, 14, son of Darlene and Bill Weist, exhibited to grand champion at the Kutztown and Oley fairs also won grand champion of the market steer show last week at Reading Fair.

Ben, from Leesport, a Schuylkill Valley 9th grader, showed his light heavyweight, winner, a 1,230-pound crossbred Charolais and Simmental steer named "Mark" to grand champion. Ben said the steer was named "after a close friend of ours." The steer was homebred out of their own heifer. Ben plans to show a different steer at the state Farm Show.

Reserve champion went to a Simmental/Angus crossbred steer weighing 1,165 pounds, shown by Lynette Heffner, Robesonia. Lynette, 16, daughter of David and Martha Pool, said the steer was her first project steer and the first year she's been showing.

The middle middleweight champion was named "Shadow," said Lynette. "I was hoping he would be my shadow and follow my lead," she said. "But he's high spirited."

The senior at Conrad Weiser High School is also president of her FFA chapter. The steer was purchased from Paul Keller, Womelsdorf.

Lynette said the key to championship success is to "wash him as often as possible" and "brush him to train his hair" for exhibition. The steer will be shown at the county roundup.

Champion fitter at Reading was won by Emilie Miller, 12, daughter of Sheila and Mike Miller, Womelsdorf. Emilie showed her Hereford purebred to the fitting champion. Kelly Dietrich, 15, daughter of Jim and Donna Dietrich, Hamburg, won champion showman at the Reading Fair Beef Show. Kelly is president of the Berks County 4-H Beef Club.

Judge for the show was Henry Gruber, New Tripoli. There were 27 exhibitors, and 27 animals in the market class and 20 heifers. Following is a list of show placings.

Berks County Farm Service Agency Announces CRP Sign-Up

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Richard Troutman, county committee chairperson, announced that the next Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up will be held during five-week period from Oct. 14 through Nov. 14.

"This will be another opportunity for landowners to sign up for a voluntary progarm to get financial and technical assistance for improving their land, water and wildlife resources," Troutman said. "If you haven't tried to get into the program, if your CRP contract offers were not accepted in Sign-up 15 last spring, or if you have contracts expiring this fall, this is the time to make new contract offers."

The CRP is designed to improve America's natural resource base. Landowners enter into contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, they receive annual rental payments and a payment for up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing approved practices.

Maximum CRP payments will be determined based on county average dryland cash or cash rent equivalent rental rates adjusted for site-specific, soil-based productivity factors. CRP payments can include an additional amount, not to exceed $5 per acre per year, as an incentive to perform certain maintenance obligations.

Interested producers and landowners should contact the Berks County FSA Office at the Ag Center, (610) 478-7158.

Pa.DHIA Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The field staff of the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association (Pa.DHIA) recently finalized the agenda for its technician's fall conference to be held Oct.13-17 at the Penn State Days Inn.

The schedule for each day of the conference is to run from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The fall conference is set in retrospect of topics discussed and questions raised at the spring and summer conferences.

Technicians are to have the opportunity to receive updates from staff personnel, as well as have the opportunity to tour the lab, which was rated 100 perdent by National DHIA quality certification's inspection.

The lab at Pa.DHIA is the only lab in the country assisting and offering research data with New Bolton Center, University of Pennsylvania of MUN.

Larry Markel, director of finance and human resources, will update the technicians on different choices in insurance plans that will be available in the near future.

Jim Boyer, DRPC manager will offer insight and updates concerning the new program to be offered by the breed associations as well as offer advice on the two current programs the technicians utilize to give the dairymen instant same-day test reports which speeds up the decision making process.

Technicians can tailor-make virtually any information report or vet action report which allows the dairymen to simply show their veterinarian the report, who can then quickly bring attention to the cows that need to be dried off, pregnancy checked, etc. Again, all of this is left at the farm on the day of test.

Promotion and retention of herds will be discussed in a special presentation by Tom Smith, marketing manager for Region 4; while professionalism and quality work will be stressed as job one at Pa.DHIA.

Dean Amick, Pa.DHIA director of field operations, is to hold a round tale discussion and update the technicians on future upcoming events.

Help desk worker Randy Mayes is to offer tips and discussion on how to maintain and clean the laptop computers in an efficient manner. Laptop computers are very important in the fact that all Pa.DHIA technicians are required to take the computer to each farm to aid in the speediness of reports.

A inhouse-produced training tape called, "Weclome to California," is to be viewed so that ideas may be learned and exchanged as Pa.DHIA makes changes and continues to service larger herds such as the herds that make up California's dairy industry.

Mount Joy Dairy Farmers Meet With Officials

"excited" about the relationship, and "I couldn't wait for this day to happen."

"Dairylea has developed a close relationship with Crowley in New York state, and this was just a natural that we should come together here," Rutherford said. "Because of the proximity of the farms to the plant, farmers take tremendous pride in seeing the plant where their milk goes and the products in the stores."

Earl Dehmey, Mount Joy Cooperative, said producers are confident with what their directors have decided in this movement. "They react very positively and like to identify with a local dairy," Dehmey said. "This has been the mainstay of Lancaster and surrounding counties. I think this will be the strength of our business relationship."

While Kemps is known as a manufacturing plant that can produce a daily output of 90,000 gal. of boxed ice cream; 60,000 dozen of novelty products; and 40,000 dozen cups and ice cream sandwiches, the plant is actually Crowley's second largest fluid milk processor. In three filling lines, the milk processing plant can handle 65,000 gal. per day.

Marty Margherio, Crowley president and CEO from Binghamton, N.Y., said the company looks to grow in the Lancaster area because that's where the milk supply is. "Our mission is to become a leader in the frozen and refrigerated industry by marketing high quality products," Margherio said. "This starts on the farm. We want to become a primary resource for both our customers and our suppliers. We hope we can help you (farmers) even on the farm. We don't take our partnership with you lightly. We need partners because we know the business will change, and we want to grow together with you.

Teresa Webb, president, Kemps Foods, said that while Kemps is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Crowley, the local manufacturing plant has its own complement of professional people in marketing, sales, production, and distribution. She said they have 510 employees that serve and 1,800 customers in 27 states from the Lancaster plant.

Don Risser, president of Mount Joy Farmers Co-Operative, said Mount Joy is very pleased to be working with Dairylea and Crowley Foods to supply milk to the Kemps Food facilities in Pennsylvania. "Crowley Foods is a prominent company with enormous opportunites before it," Risser said. "This new relationship better positions all three organizations for the future as we examine the potential for growth in our businesses."

Mount Joy represents 186 farms in Lancaster and surrounding counties that produce 27 million pounds of milk per month. Dairylea is owned by more than 2,800 dairy farmers throughout the Northeast that markets more than 4.5 billions of milk annually.

Right now 16 tanker truck loads of milk are coming into the Lancaster plant with 15 of the loads from Mount Joy producers. The Kemps' York plant also receives six to eight tanker loads from the local area.

Brand names that are produced at the local Kemps plant include Crowley, Kemps, Pennsupreme, Hagan Axelrod, Greens, Weeks, and Penn Maid. Also many independent store and company brands are part of the production.

Products include: milk, ice cream, frozen yogurt, sherbet, stick and soft novelties, ice cream mix, and juices and drinks.

Lampeter Fair Sale Has Good Prices

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

The FFA and 4—H livestock sale at the Lampeter Fair last Friday night had some very good response from buyers.

In the steer sale, Dale Livengood's champion 4-H steer brought $1,350 from Livengood Organic Produce.

Beth Frey's champion FFA steer sold to Rep. John Barley for $1,575.

In the lamb sale Stauffer's of Kissel Hill bought both champions. They payed $1,000 for Allison Hughes' 4-H champion and $1,100 for Jeremy Railing's FFA champion.

In the hog sale, H. L. Wiker & Son purchased Andy Hughes' champion 4-H hog for $1,450, and Hoss' Sea and Steak House bought Jason Reifsnyder's champion FFA winner for $900.

One of the notes of interest is that many of the other animals that were not selected as champions sold very well, in several cases selling higher than the champions. This speaks well for the buyers' support of the sale.

Beth Frey's champion FFA steer sold to Rep. John Barley with honors shared by Natalie Miller, fair queen.

Stauffer's of Kissel Hill, represented by Paul Stauffer, bought Allison Hughes' champion 4-H lamb. Natalie Miller is the fair queen.

H.L. Wiker & Son, represented by Don Welk, bought Andy Hughes's champion 4-H hog. Natalie Miller is the fair queen.

Craig Campbell and Erik Lindberg, representing Hoss' Sea and Steak House, bought Jason Reifsnyder's champion FFA hog. Natalie Miller is the fair queen.

Dale Livengood's champion 4-H steer sold to Livengood Organic Produce, represented by Earl Livengood. Natalie Miller is the fair queen.

Jeremy Railing sold the champion FFA lamb to Stauffer's of Kissel Hill, represented by Jeff Stauffer. Natalie Miller is the fair queen.

Deadline: PHA Jr. All-Pa. Applications

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association announced this week that members have until Nov. 1 to apply for All-Pennsylvania consideration for their show cattle.

According to a PHA news release, Any junior member who successfully showed at a district, regional or state show is eligible to apply for Junior All-Pennsylvania recognition.

To apply, members need to fill out an application and include a picture of the animal along with a complete show record of the animal's placings.

A panel of judges is to then evaluate each class, and name the recipients of the All-Pennsylvania, reserve and honorable mention winners.

Complete applications should be sent to: Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College PA 16801, or call (814) 234-0364 for more information, or fax (814) 234-1698.

Chester Holstein Banquet

ATGLEN (Chester Co.) — The Chester County Holstein Club will hold its annual meeting and banquet on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 7 p.m. at the West Fallowfield Christian School.

A turkey dinner is priced at $5 for adults and $3 for children ages three through 10.

The evening program will feature the recognition of top 4-H and FFA Holstein youth and outstanding type and production awards for both adults and youth. Entertainment will be a special slide presentation.

First-year 4-H'ers with Holstein dairy projects will be among the guests that evening, along with the Chester dairy princess, dairy maids, and dairy ambassador.

Orders for five pound blocks of mild cheddar cheese will be taken that evening.

Please call in dinner reservations by Moday, Oct. 13 to one of the following directors: Dale Hostetter (717) 593-7181, Bob Hewitt (717) 495-7927, or Jane Pepple (717) 932-3975.

When making reservations, please call in high BAA information, lifetime records of 200,000 pound cows still producing, and protein records of youth-owned animals.

WEIGH BEFORE YOU PAY

TOP FIVE GIMMICKS SOME SEED COMPANIES USE TO GET YOUR MONEY BEFORE YOU HARVEST

#1. Roll back the clock on price.

Pick a year, any year, and just roll it back. Rolling the clock back may roll your performance back.
In 1997, Pioneer broke a seed industry record, introducing 12 new hybrids to Eastern corn growers.
These new hybrids are delivering Technology That Yields®.

WEIGH BEFORE YOU PAY.

#2. Buy 600 more bags over the next 3 years and get a free yield monitor.

Or is it 900 more bags for you? Whatever the offer, even a 2 bu/acre yield advantage can wash out this "deal".
Given the fast pace of change, who wants to commit for 3 years?

WEIGH BEFORE YOU PAY.

#3. Buy 12 bags and get one free -- hurry, prices may change.

Free seed costs you money when it doesn't perform.

WEIGH BEFORE YOU PAY.

#4. All Bt Hybrids are about the same.

Don't fall for this misconception. If European corn borer is a concern, make certain you plant a hybrid that offers season-long protection against ECB. Some hybrids don't produce the Bt protein long enough to ward off second generation ECB.
Pioneer® brand hybrids with the YieldGard[1] gene offer this outstanding ECB resistance.
Pioneer hybrids have the total genetic package for season-long performance and winning yields.

#5. Order before harvest for the best discount-- while supplies last.

Would you order a new pick-up truck before completing the test drive?
Purchase seed from a reliable supplier.
Pioneer Hi-Bred is committed to meet your planting and season-long needs.

WEIGH BEFORE YOU PAY.

Why would a seed company offer its best discounts for orders before giving you the chance to see how their products really perform?

Maybe they don't want you to see their yield results.

PEOPLE YOU CAN COUNT ON

Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association Serves 600,000 Residents

The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association (PREA), based in Harrisburg, Pa., is the service organization for the nonprofit, consumer-owned rural electric cooperatives in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Currently, the 13 co-ops in Pennsylvania and one in New Jersey provide electric service to more than 600,000 rural residents, businesses and industries. Pennsylvania's co-ops own and maintain about 12.5 percent of the electric distribution lines in the state, covering nearly one-third of the Commonwealth's land area in 41 counties. These lines represent one of the largest non-governmental investments in rural infrastructure in the state and are an essential component of business and industry.

PREA's 14-member board of directors — one director elected from each of its member cooperatives — conducts the association's business to best serve the consumer-members of the op-ops.

PREA works jointly with Allegheny Electric Cooperative, Inc., a generation and transmission cooperative that provides wholesale power to the 14 co-ops.

HISTORY

As late as the 1930s, only six out of every 100 rural Pennsylvanians knew the miracle of the electric light bulb in their homes. The reason — establishing power companies in Pennsylvania and New Jersey had decided that running electric lines into rural areas would not make them a profit.

As a rule, power companies charged farmers $2,000 to $3,000 per mile to build lines to their homes and then charged electric rates higher than those in the cities. Since the average gross income of a farm family of the period was just $1,800 per year, most couldn't afford electric service.

In many areas, power was not available at any cost. For a time it seemed the profit needs — greed — of stockholder-controlled private power companies would condemn most of Pennsylvania's and New Jersey's rural population to live forever with kerosene lamps and hand pumps.

But rural leaders and a handful of politicians were not ready to accept the status quo. They began working to demonstrate that electric power could be provided to rural areas at a reasonable cost and began developing a business structure to make that delivery possible.

In 1931, New York Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Power authority of the State of New York (PASNY) to develop water power on the St. Lawrence River. PASNY produced the first study on the actual costs of electric distribution and helped demonstrate the practicality of providing electricity to rural areas.

The first official federal action in the process leading to rural electrification came in 1933 with the formation of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). The act enabling the TVA authorized the construction of transmission lines to serve farms and small villages "not otherwise supplied with electricty at reasonable rates" and gave preference in the sale of power to "cooperative organizations of citizens or farmers."

In 1935, armed with studies showing both the economic feasiblity and the benefits of providing electricty to rural areas, then-President Roosevelt signed an executive order forming the Rural Electrification Administration (REA).

The REA program was initially intended as an inducement to the private power companies to begin serving rural areas. But even with the incentives provided by 2 percent REA loans, the private power suppliers showed little interest in building the necessary lines. By the end of 1935, it was clear that the private power companies weren't serious about acting on the government's offer to electrify the countryside. Most of the loan applications and inquiries REA received came from farm co-ops. REA now realized that farmers and their rural neighbors were willing to take electrification into their own hands on a cooperative basis.

Farmers had long experience with cooperatives. In fact, the co-op was the business structure rural people adopted when confronted with a task too large for any family to handle itself.

It was natural then that rural leaders chose to form another kind of co-op to provide themselves and their neighbors with electricity. Since extending central station electric service required very specialized engineering skills, many in Congress were convinced rural electrification would never be accomplished without REA receiving regular appropriations and full status. So in 1936, one year and 20 days after REA had been created, Congress passed legislation making REA a permanent government agency. In 1939, REA became part of the U.S. Department of Agricluture.

On October 20, 1994, a sweeping reorganization of the Ag Department took place. As a result, after 59 years of existence, REA was officially disbanded. Most REA functions were transferred to a new Rural Utilities Service (RUS).

But the mission of rural electriciation continues. Today, about 1,000 electric cooperatives across the United States provide power to more than 25 million consumer members. Each co-op is a locally owned, taxpaying business incorporated under the laws of its individual state.

Rural electric cooperatives have been delivering low-cost electric service to Pennsylvania and New Jersey rural residents since 1936, when the Steamburg Electric Cooperative Association (later consolidated into Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative) was established in Erie and Crawford counties.

The 14 rural electric cooperatives that today comprise PREA were organized between 1936 and 1941. By the time the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, all of them had gone through the pangs of becoming oragnized, of getting their first loans, of making arrangements for power supply at least on a short-term basis and had begun construction of lines to reach their unserved neighbors.

With the outbreak of WWII, the co-ops realized they need a statewide organization to speak for them as one voice on legislative issues. The co-ops created PREA in February 1942.

OCTOBER IS CO-OP MONTH RURAL ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES

Rural Electric Cooperatives have been providing low-cost electric service to Pennsylvania rural residents since 1936, when the Steamburg Electric Cooperative Association (later consolidated into Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative) was established in Crawford and Erie counties.

Today, rural electric cooperatives in Pennsylvania are providing reliable electric service to many rural residents in numerous counties. Many rural electric co-ops are involved in economic growth efforts and community programs to meet rural needs.

Rural electric cooperatives are owned and controlled by the people they serve. The consumers who receive electricity from them are cooperative members, and share responsibility for the success of the cooperative.

The following Rural Electric Cooperatives are proud to be a part of the 1996 Co-Op Month Campaign.

Trout Spring Farm Wins At Lampeter

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) - Trout Spring Farm, owned by the Dennis Kauffman and John Kreider families, had a good day at the Lampeter Fair Holstein dairy show last Thursday. They won every milking cow class and had the grand and reserve grand champion Holstein, with supreme champion of the show going to C. Comestar Senata Stbuck, a senior two year-old.

The junior champion in the Holstein show went to Star Rock Farm with a junior calf, and Fultonway Farm won the reserve junior champion award with a senior yearling.

In the Ayrshire show James Findley had the grand champion, and Karen Hambrick had the reserve grand champion. Hambrick also had the junior and reserve junior champions.

Three head were shown in the Brown Swiss show with the grand champion going to Thomas Spring, and the reserve grand going to Lori Hess.

In the Guernsey show two head were shown with the grand going to Thomas Spring and the reserve to Megan Spring.

In the Jersey show Stephanie Donough had the grand champion with a senior two year-old that gave the supreme champion good competition for the over-all award. Stephanie also had the reserve grand champion.

Timothy Donough had the junior champion Jersey, and Kristine Donough had the reserve junior champion.

Robert Kauffman, Elizabethtown was the judge.

Good Prices Paid At Ephrata Fair Sale

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Ephrata Fair exhibitors took home some good prices at the livestock auction here last week.

In the baby beef competition, champion was shown by Katie Nolt, 8, daughter of Gene and Charlene Nolt, New Holland.

The champion, a 1,300-pound steer named Blue, fetched $1.55 per pound to Charles M. Shirk Trucking, Terre Hill.

Reserve champion steer was shown by Katie's sister Sarah, 11, with a 1,295-pound steer named Elmo. The steer sold for $1.09 per pound to Charles M. Shirk Trucking.

In market lamb competition, grand champion went to first-time Ephrata lamb champion Chris Hess, 12, son of Bill and Ann Hess, Lititz. Corestates Bank purchased the 114-pound champion for $2.35 a pound. Reserve was shown by Kathy Musser, 16, daughter of Ken and Linda Musser, Mount Joy. Her 120-pound lamb went for $1.95 per pound to Ephrata National Bank.

At the swine show, grand champion was shown by Eric Ober, 16, Manheim. The 254-pound grand champion was sold for $2.50 a pound to Hatfield Quality Meats. Reserve was shown by Jenny Hoover, 16, Denver. Her 252-pound hog was sold for $2.10 a pound to Ephrata National Bank.

At the first-ever Ephrata Fair goat show, Gerald Boyd, Ephrata, showed the grand champion. The 92-pound goat sold for $1.90 a pound to Triple H Construction.

Forage Spokesperson Contest Set

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — We all know the problems forage producers and dairymen have had this crop season. The Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council (PFGC) is dedicated to help the forage producer produce higher quality forages.

PFGC is conducting a Forage Spokesperson Contest at Shadowbrook, Tunkhannock, on Nov. 18 to allow qualified forage producers to "tell the story about forages."

AUSTRALIAN POULTRY INDUSTRY: BIRDS OF A DIFFERENT COLOR

James W. Dunn, Professor, Ag Economics, Penn State and Visiting Professor, University of Adelaide, Australia

To an American, the Australian poultry industry is very different. First, Australia is an arid country and its feed grain production reflects this. In a normal year, 60 percent of Australia's feed grain production is barley, with most of the rest oats and sorghum. Only four percent is corn.

The major feed component is wheat. Since Australia is prone to drought, it is not unusual to have to import feed grains. The lack of feed grains means that most beef and dairy cattle are grass fed and the feed grains are reserved for pigs and poultry.

Feed costs would be about 50 percent higher per ton than in the United States. I find that all of the meat tastes different than back home, especially the beef.

While Australia is about the size of the 48 contiguous states with a population about one and one-half the size of Pennsylvania, its poultry industry is very concentrated.

Two large integrated companies, Australian Poultry Limited (Steggles) and Inghams Enterprises, supply about 80 percent of the chicks and process about 75 percent of the broilers. Further, the population is concentrated in five major cities, none very near another, so the country is divided into five major markets Each of these markets is in a different state. This, plus a history of independence between states, has led to state by state regulation of poultry markets.

The south Australian market, with Adelaide as its major city, is typical. Under state law, the South Australian Poultry Meat Industry Committee (PMIC) regulates the grower-processor relations. Besides Steggles and Inghams there is one other primary processor, Joe's Poultry, and one minor further product processor, Tom's. There are 73 growers.

The grower-integrator relationship responsibilities are essentially as they are in Pennsylvania, with the grower responsible for housing, labor, and energy and the integrator responsible for almost everything else. The major difference is that PMIC determines grower payments. This committee has equal membership of growers and integrators, with an outside chairman.

Grower payments are reviewed every six months, using a cost-estimation formula. It is currently about 36 cents (U.S.) per bird. Of course, the costs of building materials, labor, energy and credit are different (and usually higher) than in Pennsylvania, so the number itself is difficult to put in perspective. One measure of the payments is that no growers have left the industry in the past decade, despite having half of the operations acknowledged as being of non-economic size.

The PMIC also must approve practices for disposal of dead birds, any change in the density of birds, expansion of facilities, and entry into the industry.

Under the directive of a federal government commission, any state law that is anti-competitive must be reviewed by the year 2000.

In 1996, the South Australian government decided to deregulate the industry, but it couldn't get approval from the state Senate, where it doesn't have a majority. Since then, the PMIC has not met and the grower payment rate has not changed. To date, the grower members of the Committee have not asked to payments.

The egg industry was similarly regulated until 1989, but since then three states have deregulated. The remaining states joined by his wife Pat, daughters, Lisa and Laurie, and grandchildren, Lindsey and Allison.

In the FFA youth awards, Joy Young, Peach Bottom, and William Leib, Mechanicsburg, were honored. In the 4-H awards, Erin Livengood, Boswell, and Scott Harclerode, Williamsburg, were the winners. Each student received a plaque and a check from PLA.

Samuel Hayes Jr., state agriculture secretary, said the Exposition is widely recognized as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. The show offers a tremendous opportunity for the public to learn more about the livestock industry and get a close look at these outstanding animals.

Entries for all species are holding at record numbers with more than 4,400 head registered. In addition, hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students will compete in the 1997 junior judging contest. More than $200,000 will be offered in premiums to exhibitors.

The show runs every day through Monday, Oct. 6, and extensive coverage of the event will be part of next week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

POULTRY ❖ POINTERS

still have quotas that may be sold within the state The interstate movement of eggs is forcing producers in the other states to consider deregulating but resistance is slowing the process

A typical poultry operation in Australia would be small by U.S. standards, especially for eggs An average commercial egg operation would have 10,000 birds, with 500,000 the largest There are 900 commercial egg producers, which is about the same as in the United States, but eight control about 45 percent of production

Consumer prices are very different here, with the expected effect of considerably lower poultry consumption. Per capita egg and broiler consumption are each about 60 percent of U.S. levels.

Eggs sell for $1.80 U.S. per dozen and chicken prices are also higher than competing meats. The higher prices seem to be partly the result of high retail margins, although wholesale price of eggs is $1.20 U.S. per dozen

Many wholesale poultry prices in Australia would be higher than the corresponding U.S retail prices Egg packers deliver the eggs to the individual stores, although industry members expect this to change to warehouse delivery soon.

Another difference is how chicken is sold. Most chicken is sold as whole bird. When birds are cut-up, the breasts are deboned and sold as filets and the leg quarters (called Maryland chicken) are sold separately.

Breasts on the bones or packages of drumsticks or thighs are rare Many whole birds are sold preroasted. Takeaways (carry-out) represent about 30 percent of chicken sales.

Although imported poultry meat and eggs would be competitive in this market, trade restrictions make importing difficult. There are quarantine bans on several products in order to keep Newcastle disease, avian influenza, and salmonella enteritidis out of Australia.

For an American family that eats chicken a couple times per week and quite a few eggs, Australian prices make us think twice.

Llama Packing Clinic Is Oct. 24-25

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Llamas, once a novelty on farms and ranches, are now integrated into many livestock production plans, with a variety of agricultural/recreational uses much like horses. Responding to the interest and to provide information to the agricultural community, Pennsylvania State University department of animal science with help from some Pennsylvania llama owners will present a two-day llama packing clinic. Featured speaker will be Charles Hackbarth, from Carbondale Co.

The Llama Packing Clinic will be held in State College at the University's main campus in the ag arena, October 24 and 25. The Llama Packing Clinic has openings for a total of 40 people, and 20 llamas. Teams of two (2) people and one (1) llama will participate in the two-day clinic covering a variey of subjects relating llamas and packing.

The Llama Packing Clinic will open the lecture portions to gallery seating for a minimal fee. A limited number of clinic notes will be available for gallery attendees to purchase.

The Packing Clinic will be a hands-on seminar using llamas with a wide range of personalities and training. An introductin to the history and use of llamas plus care and general animal maintenance will provide information for new llama owners and a welcomed review for longtime llama owners. Obstacle training is taught before packing, to make the llama familiar and comfortable for packing through a variety of trail conditions.

Following the obstacle training, preparing the packs, placing the packing saddle on the llama, and working the llamas in a pack string. Not every llama is suitable for packing. Things to consider are the llama's age, conformtion, general health, physical condition, trail experience, and handler's expertise.

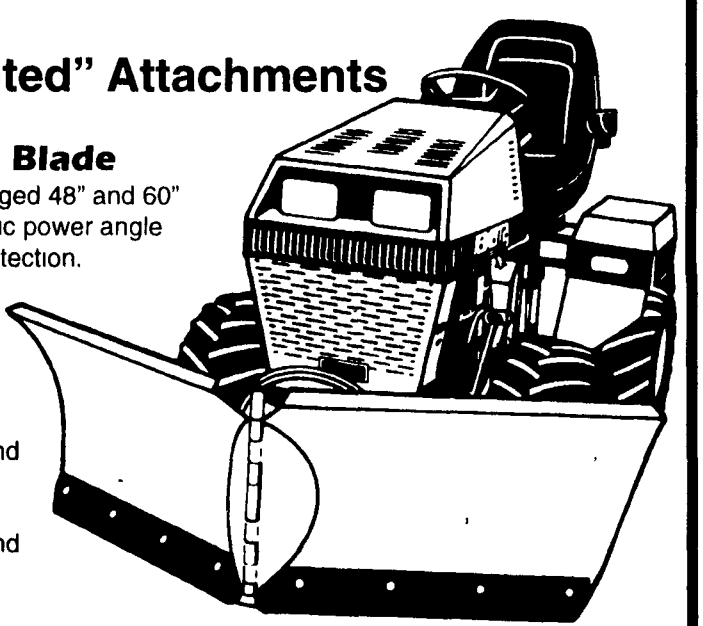
Move dirt or show with rugged 48" and 60" blades. Features hydraulic power angle and safety trip protection.

Rotary Sweeper 54"
Ideal for clearing away leaves, debris and light snow on pathways, parking lots, sidewalks and drives. Hydraulically controlled nylon broom angles for left-and right-hand operation.

Slip Scoop 44"
A quick, easy way to move loose materials or excavate small areas


"New Attachment" V-Blade
The V-blade is designed for easy snow removal. Electro-hydraulic independent blade wing angling allows easy conversion from V-blade to inverted scoop or straight blade while in motion.

Llama

On Saturday, October 25, clinic attendees will be able to test their new packing skills on an actual packing trek in some of the beautiful hills surrounding Pennsylvania State University. The brilliant fall scenery and a delicious box lunch will conclude a great week-end.

Since 1982, Charlie Hackbarth and his family have been raising pack llamas. They also have a packing company in Colorado called Mr. Sopris Llamas Unltd., which sells llama packing supplies. Charlie teaches packing clinics around the country and writes a column called "Tails of the Trail" for "Llama Magazine."

For information about the Llama Packing Clinic, call Dr. Clair Engle, Pennsylvania State University, (814) 865-5491, or Lynn Zerphey, Sheepberry Farms, (717) 362-4315. The cost of the llama clinic will be $80 per person and $140 per couple. Gallery seating is $10 per person. Preregistration is required for the clinic.

The Aaron family dairy of Quarryville, Lancaster Co., PA built an 81x19 Slurrystore® structure in 1989 for their poultry and dairy operation. This fall they decided to eliminate the costly, labor-intense drying and grinding of their corn crop. The end result is this 20x70 Harvstore® structure with a new ForceFlo™ unloader!

Improving THE BOTTOM LINE

Master Mix Feeds has helped us approach an 18,000 RHA on 150 Jerseys. Our Master Mix Feeds nutritionists have shown us they understand our goals and have helped us fine tune our feeding program. We're very proud of reaching this level of production, and are looking to the future and ways to economically increase our production even more. Our Master Mix Feeds representatives have consistently shown us their interest, commitment and availability to working with us to identify and solve areas of concern as they arise.

"Beekeeping is an addictive hobby," Julie said. She holds some of the cinnamon-scented cranberry beeswax ornaments that she sells at craft shows. One of her most popular pieces are floating roses and poinsetti candles, which are placed in a glass bowl with water. The flaming flowers make attractive table centerpieces and burn 2-3 hours.

Rick Freeman has garnered blue ribbons along the Eastern Coast and Canada for his molded beeswax animals. He makes most of his own molds. Notice the picture of a handsome cat molded in beeswax by Rick appears on the hardcover book, "Beeswax Crafting," by Robert Berthold Jr.

Bee Ranch Buzzes With Bee-Related Hobbies

AUBURN (Schuylkill Co.) — Visit Twin Oaks Bee Ranch and it's difficult to tell what causes owners Rick and Julie Freeman the most excitement: bees, honey, or the wonderful ornaments and figurines formed from beeswax.

One thing is certain: the couple's artistic talents using the beeswax is the most eye-catching.

Rick has garnered blue ribbons along the Eastern Coast and Canada for his molded beeswax figurines and Julie sells beeswax ornaments at craft shows.

Rick makes his own molds, which are so unique that he often relents and sells them to insistent buyers. A picture of a handsome cat molded in beeswax by Rick appears on the hardcover book, "Beeswax Crafting," by Robert Berthold Jr.

The one thing that makes Rick's work so unique is that lifelike glass eyes are molded into the wax—no easy feat when using liquid wax when pouring the molds. Rick perfected the technique after several mishaps of having the eyes slide sideways before the wax set.

The molded wax animals transmit a sweet aroma and last for years.

"Beekeeping is an addictive hobby," Julie said. "We've had so much fun. We always ask what if we had more bees?"

About 10 years ago, the Freemans purchased one hive for use in their own small orchard. They now own 120 hives.

"We originally became interested in bees because we wanted a better fruit crop in our orchard, but now the orchard plays second fiddle to the bees," Julie said.

After extensive reading on beekeeping, the Freemans heard about an older gentleman going out of business. They purchased his hives and transported the hives in the trunk of their car. When they arrived home, bees were all over their trunk and flying about because some of the hives had tumbled over. From their reading, the Freemans knew the best thing to do was to reconstruct the hive as close to the car as possible. Rick removed the hives from the car, but left the trunk open. The Freemans went to bed with the bees still buzzing in the trunk. When the sun arose, the bees crawled back into the hives by their own accord.

Another interesting way to retrieve a swarm of bees, the Freemans said, is to lay down a white sheet and shake a swarm on it. When the queen bee is placed in the hives, the remaining bees march into the hive almost like little soldiers.

Broken hives happen in more ways than by transport. Last year, Rick went up the hill in the woodland in front of their home to check on his beehives and found that a black bear had already discovered the honey. The bear had scattered the parts of five hives all over the place.

"But we had 50 colonies there, so it could have been much worse," Rick said of the five lost colonies.

Since that incident, the Freemans strung high tensile fence around the area to keep out the bears.

Although mites continue to be a problem for honey growers, the Freemans are able to control the damage compared to two years ago when the mite problem had reached epidemic proportions.

"We lost about 30 percent of our hives," Rick estimated. The loss was mostly the result of other bee keepers not treating their hives. The virus quickly spreads.

The Freemans transport hives to fruit and vegetable growers who request it. Generally, the hives are transported in April to strawberry fields. In addition to orchards, the hives are also set in fields of tomatoes, peppers, and cucumbers until frost hits.

The Freemans concentrate on the bee part during the growing season and the molding projects in the colder months. They recall being stuck in the mud in a remote orchard during the middle of the night.

"Beekeeping requires late hours when pollinating because you can't do it during the day. You must wait until the bees are finished flying," Rick said.

The Freemans have taken beekeeping and beeswax classes offered at Delaware Valley College.

As Rick and Julie talked about bees, honey, and beeswax, their 2-year-old son Brendin took a bite from a piece of realistic Indian corn formed of beeswax.

As his mother calmly corn, she said, "The nice thing about beeswax is that it's entirely safe, especially for children."

Pure beeswax burns longer and cleaner and transmits a delicate aroma. Julie also colors and scents beeswax for those who prefer ornaments in colors other than the natural color.

She also makes customized wedding candles with the wedding invitation embossed on the candle, rolled beeswax candles, figurines, and hanging ornaments.

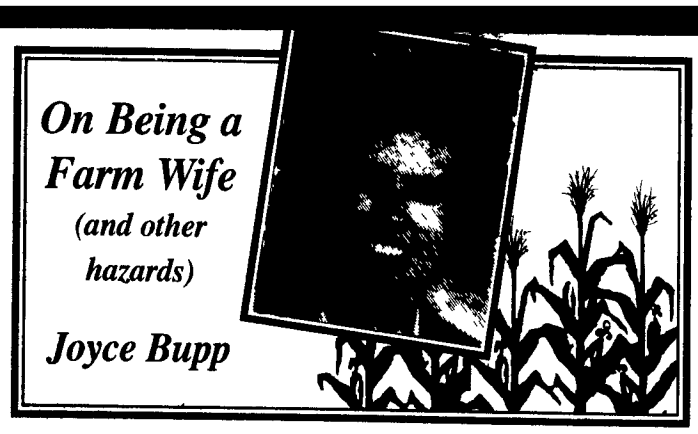
HOMESTEAD NOTES

About 10 years ago, the Freemans purchased one hive for use in their own small orchard. They now own 120 hives. Julie and Rick now have a son Brendin, 2, who shows great interest in beekeeping.



The older one gets, the more one values "old" things. Or at least, it seems that way.

Maybe it's from the perspective of "experience" (I like that word better than "aging" that a person can evaluate something on its real worth — and not shiny, new paint, glitzy buttons, or flashy digital readouts. The bright, the newest, the improved, the latest version of "progress"...isn't always.

But, among this constantly changing, upgrading, modernizing, (or maybe because there are so many of us baby boomers hitting the sombering mortality-reality stage of life) there seems to be a renewed interest in our historic roots. Witness the booming — pun intended — interest in encampments and re-enactment of the area's major Civil War battles. Not only do thousands turn out to observe and learn this sort of living history exposure, but thousands subject themselves, at least short-term, to the inconveniences and discomforts of tent housing and battlefield lifestyle. Like itchy, wool uniforms worn in July and August.

Having been incorporated in 1749, York County is already looking ahead two years to a 250th anniversary celebration. And, the roots of York County are truly deep in our rich soils, since agriculture was and continues to be a foundation of our economy. Sadly, we continue to steadlily diminish the volume of our acreage devoted to farming from our earlier, agrarian-society days. More of that progress.

Nevertheless, we are rich in agriculture history, a little bit of which is being honored this weekend by our local Early American Steam Engine Society. For 40 years, these folks have been celebrating our farm heritage by repairing, restoring and sharing their love for "old farm stuff." Stuff like huffing, puffing steam engines which pulled plows and harvest equipment, tiny put-putting, one-cylinder engines that might grind corn or power a washing machine, and the early tractors "like my dad first started farming with" many of them will say.

Only in recent years have I come to realize how much of that "old farm stuff" originated here in York County. And, this weekend, the EASES's Steam-O-Rama at their Windsor showgrounds is featuring farm equipment that was manufactured right here in our own back yard.

My first job out of high school was a clerical one, near York's Farquhar Park. But it was years before I realized that this spacious, wooded, open space was named for an individual whose firm manufactured an impressive variety of agriculture equipment, including threshing machines.

Threshers were the forerunners of today's grain combines, performing the same basic function of separating the wheat or barley or oats from the chaff, the dried husk part of the plant that surrounds the grain as it grows and ripens. A.B. Farquhar's mechanical threshers would have been a tremendous technological leap for our forefather farmers who had grown up "flailing" grain. Flailing, in simple terms, is beating a pile of harvested stalks on the barn floor with a piece of hand-held equipment until the grain falls out.

An added draw at the Windsor steam show this year is a national gathering of the Sheppard Diesel collectors. The Sheppard firm, still in business in Hanover, made one of the first diesel-powered tractors in the country. Their first model was a one-cylinder lawn-and-garden type and only three of those are known to exist today. One is to be on display at the Steam-O-Rama.

Interestingly, Sheppard Diesel collectors relate that local farmers never widely embraced the only tractor ever made here in the county; they were more commonly put to work in the Midwest. Apparently, there was a bit of reluctance to accept the new diesel technology, not to mention the fact that the full cost of the tractor had to be paid up-front. And that was probably no easier to do in those early post-World War II days then it is today. Most equipment firms now have their own financing plans for that reason.

Every year, we plan to attend the Steam-O-Rama-and every year, something seems to come up to prevent that. Maybe this will be the one.

We can check if the tractors we're currently using around the farm have become official "classics" yet.

are floating roses and poinsetti candles, which are placed in a glass bowl with water. The flaming flowers make attractive table centerpieces and burn 2-3 hours.

Beeswax is not plentiful. It requires about eight pounds of honey for every one pound of wax made.

The average worker bee lives only six weeks. Honey bees gather only ⅛ -½ teaspoon of honey during their lifetime.

Each type of honey has a unique flavor and color, depending on the flowers visited by the honey bees. More than 300 different varieties of honey range from lightly sweet to richly bold.

Rick maintains his full-time job as a mechanic. In addition to his beekeeping hobby, Rick also is restoring his grandfather's '49 Massey Harris tractor.

While Rick modestly denies that he has inborn artistic talent, his wife reminds him that he used to draw pictures and cartoons to send to her instead of writing to her before they married.

They like to experiment with different molds and have used metal, ceramic, polyurethane, and rubber molds. Some of the molds Rick has made have six pieces.

In addition to molds, the Freemans have designed table favors for the Eastern Apiculture Society, which meets annually in a different state each time.

Although the Freemans started their honey extraction and beeswax processes in their kitchen, they soon learned that the jobs are best suited for places other than the family living area. They now have an outdoor shop dubbed The Honey House with a 30-frame motorized extractor and equipment for the beeswax craft.

They have purchased a large utility trailer to haul honey and craft items to shows. Upcoming shows where the Freemans will be selling their products include: Myerstown Fall Craft Show, Oct. 4; Schuylkill Co. Fall Festival, Oct. 5; Leesport Craft Show, Oct. 11-12 and Nov. 29-30; and Ephrata ABWA Craft Show, Nov. 22.

The Freemans belong to Lehigh Valley, Montgomery County, and the Schuylkill County Beekeepers. Rick is vice president of the Berks County Beekeepers. Both Rick and Julie are directors of the Schuylkill County Fair Board.

In 1994, Julie won the state apple pie contest with a pie made with honey.

Since then, she has not entered because she believes in giving other people the opportunity. However, Julie continues to use honey in many of her recipes.

Some of the family's favorite ways to use honey are in honey peanut butter cookies, glazing sweet potatoes with honey and butter, and sweetening cooked carrots with honey. She also uses honey to sweeten barbecue sauce.

"The quicker, the better," Julie said of her favorite recipes.

EASY PEACH PIE

1⅓ cups flour
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt

Blend with pastry blender until mixture is the size of peas, add:

4 teaspoon ice water

Roll out pie dough for 9-inch crust.

Filling:

8-10 peaches
⅓ -½ cup honey
¼ heaping cup flour

Peel and slice peaches. Add honey and flour. Toss in bowl. Pour into 9-inch pie crust. Sprinkle with crumb topping:

Julie experiments by using honey in many of her recipes. In 1994, she won the state apple pie contest, when she entered a pie made with caramelized honey at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg. Here, she holds a peach pie made with honey.

Crumb topping:

¾ cup flour
2 teaspoons butter
⅓ cup sugar

Combine ingredients with fork or pastry blender until finely crumbed. Sprinkle on top of peaches.

Bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Reduce heat to 400 degrees and bake for 30 additional minutes.

Cloister Apple Dumpling Festival Oct. 11

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Nothing could be better on a crisp fall day than a warm apple dumpling, a Pennsylvania German confection made of apples, spices and sugar all wrapped in dough. The historic Ephrata Cloister's annual Apple Dumpling Festival, October 11, offers the chance to enjoy these delicious treats. The first of the fresh, hot homemade dumplings comes out of the oven at 10 a.m. and the gathering continues until the last dumpling is sold.

"We made about 1,500 dumplings last year, and we're going to try for that many again this October," reports Shirley Bischoff, Ephrata Cloister Associates business manager.

Aside from the wonderful food and beautiful surroundings, the satisfaction of the day comes from helping to preserve the rich heritage of the Ephrata Cloister. Proceeds from the Apple Dumpling Festival support the "Back to the Cloister Fund," an endowment used to purchase original 18th century artifacts created at the German religious community. Funds from the festival have helped to acquire items such as a manuscript music hymnal created in the mid-1700s, a collection of significant manuscript deeds, and a rare Cloister built cupboard.

Ephrata Cloister is located in the Borough of Ephrata, Lancaster County, on Route 322 at the intersection with Route 272. The historic site is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. Guided tours present three of the historic buildings to visitors with additional structures open for self-guided visits. A family admission rate allows all members of a household to visit the site for one low price. For more information about Ephrata Cloister and the Apple Dumpling Festival call (717) 733-6600.

Fall is the season for fairs. I've only been a spectator at the handful of fairs here in Lancaster County. But even so, I have particular memories of each fair.

The first one that I attended does not even exist anymore. The Lancaster County Fair was held west of Lancaster and drew a big crowd in the 1920s.

My parents picked the New Holland Fair to attend each fall. Mother would drag out the heavy winter coats and hang them on the washline. They were packed in mothballs and a few hours outside did not get rid of the odor. Packing half a dozen girls in a small car really was something.

The Ephrata Fair is closest to our home and they always have a huge parade. When our daughter was in her school's marching band, we always attended to see her play.

The displays of produce have always been of interest to me. Are the beans and beets nicer than the ones that I raised? And, are the paw-paws bigger than ours? The flowers always add beauty to the arrangements.

One fair that we attend most every year is the Bloomsburg Fair. We always hope that the maple trees will already have their red, yellow and orange leaves. It is a beautiful drive from here to Columbia County.

The horse races at both the York Fair and the Bloomsburg Fair are also an attraction. We sit with the other white-haired retired citizens and try to guess which animal will win. My husband is better at guessing a winner than I am.

Another season has passed and soon we'll prepare for Halloween and Thanksgiving.

Tasty Eating Stems From Apples

From preschool to retirement, apples are a favorite treat of kids of all ages. And apples have something special to offer each age group.

Free of artificial colors and flavors, apples are a parent's favorite choice for their kids. Even the most finicky people can find a variety of apple they like, and apples are the go-along treat that suits busy lifestyles. The delicious crunch helps satisfy health-conscious adults in more ways than taste.

More than 100 apple varieties are grown commercially in the U.S. Be adventurous — try a variety that's new to you, or do something new with an old favorite.

Two great places to learn more about apples while having fun are at The National Apple Harvest Festival and at the Reading Terminal Market.

The National Apple Harvest Festival will be held Oct. 4-5 and on Oct. 11-12, at Arendtsville in Adams Co.

The Reading Terminal Market, 12th & Arch Sts., Philadelphia, will have a month-long apple celebration each Friday and Saturday from noon to 2 p.m. Tips and cooking demonstrations with taste-testing opportunities are part of the Apples Galore celebration.

Here are some of our readers' favorite recipes.

BROWN BETTY

2 cups bread crumbs or graham-cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons melted butter
3 or 4 medium apples
½ cup brown or granulated sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
⅓ cup hot water

Combine crumbs and butter; stir over low heat until lightly browned. Place ⅓ in greased 8x8x2-inch pan. Pare, core, and slice apples; arrange half in layer over crumbs. Sprinkle with half the sugar, lemon juice, and peel.

Add second layer of crumbs and remaining apples, sugar, lemon juice, and peel. Cover with remaining crumbs. Pour water over mixture. Bake in 375 degree oven until apples are tender, 30-40 minutes. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

Fay Strickler

CANNED APPLESAUCE CAKE

⅔ cup shortening
3½ cups sugar
4 eggs
3 cups applesauce
1½ cups raisins
⅔ cup chopped nuts
3½ cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves

Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in eggs and applesauce. Stir together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and spices. Blend into applesauce mixture. Add nuts and raisins. Fill seven greased widemouth pint jars half full of batter. Clean sealing edge. Bake open jars for 45 minutes in 325-degree oven. When done, firmly screw on a two-piece canning lid. The lid will vaccum seal as the jars cool. The cake is safe to eat as long as it is sealed.

MICRO-BAKED APPLES

4 baking apples
1½ tablespoons butter
⅓ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons chopped walnuts
¼ cup apple juice or water
3 tablespoons water.

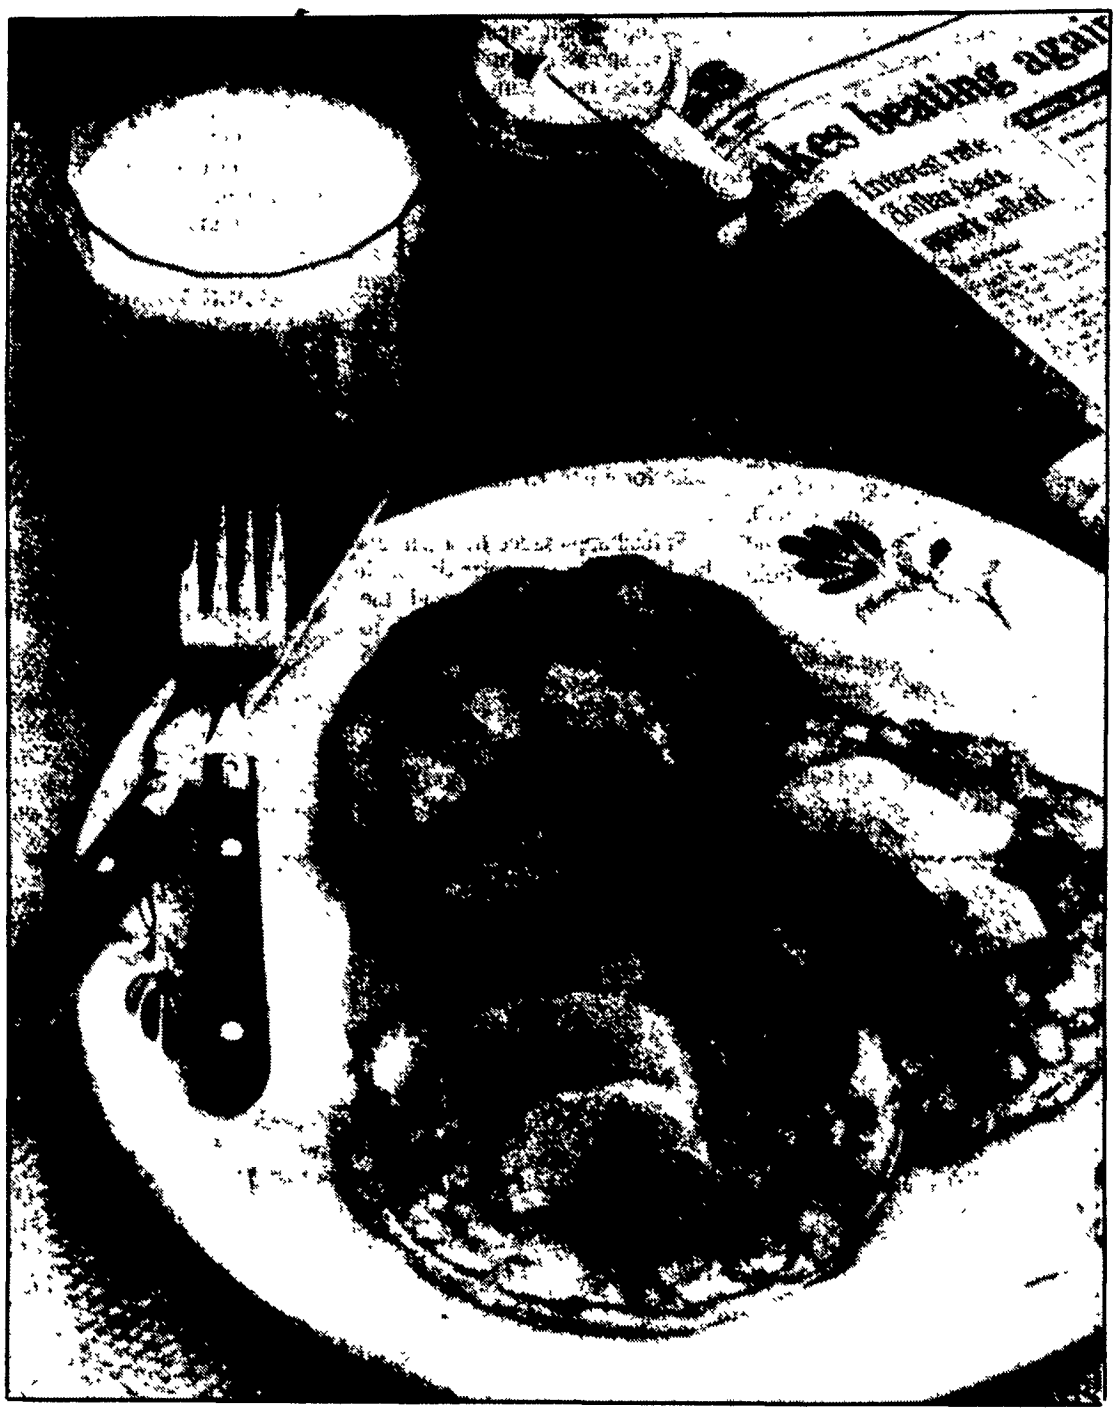
Core apples. Combine butter and sugar, add raisins and nuts and stuff into cavity of apples. Place apples in individual microwave-safe serving dishes. Pour 1 tablespoon apple juice over each apple. Cover with wax paper. Micro-cook on high 8 minutes or until tender. Makes 4 servings.

MULLED CIDER

1 quart apple cider
⅓ cup light brown sugar, packed
½ teaspoon whole allspice
6 to 7 3-inch cinnamon sticks
6 to 7 whole cloves

Combine all ingredients in a Dutch oven or large saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover, and simmer for 15 minutes.

Strain, discard spices, and serve hot with a cinnamon stick upright in the cup.



Mornings become more delicious with apple-topped pancakes.

BUTTERY CINNAMON SKILLET APPLES

⅓ cup butter
½ -¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
¼ -½ teaspoon cinnamon
4 medium cooking apples

Melt butter over medium heat. Stir in sugar and cornstarch; mix well. Add remaining ingredients, cover and cook over medium heat, spooning sauce over apples until tender.

Cool and serve with milk or over homemade ice cream.

APPLESAUCE PORK CHOPS

4 pork chops
1 quart applesauce
Garlic salt
2 tablespoons oil
Ground cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg to taste

Sprinkle pork chops with garlic salt. Brown in oil. Drain. Return chops to skillet.

Pour on applesauce. Sprinkle with cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg to taste. Simmer one hour on low.

Wonderful autumn meal that leaves the kitchen smelling great!

Honey adds a golden touch to a wide range of foods, especially many traditional foods of fall and winter. It sweetens hot tea, glazes roasted meats, and enhances the flavor and texture of baked goods.

This week's Homestead Notes feature tells about Twin Oaks Bee Ranch and Rick, Julie, and Brendin Freeman. Julie won the '94 state apple pie contest for her caramelized honey apple pie. In the article, Julie shares some of her other honey recipes.

FINGER-LICKING HONEY SPARERIBS

1 cup chili sauce
½ cup honey or more
¼ cup minced onion
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
3 pounds pork spareribs
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine the first six ingredients in a small saucepan and bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Sprinkle spareribs with salt and pepper. Place on a rack over a roasting pan; cover with foil and bake at 375 degrees 35-45 minutes. Uncover and brush generously with sauce. Bake 45 minutes, brushing with sauce every 15 minutes, until spareribs are fully cooked and tender. Cut spareribs into serving portions and serve with remaining sauce.

LOW-FAT CARROT APPLESAUCE CAKE

8 egg whites
2 cups dark brown sugar, packed
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
¾ teaspoon light salt
1½ cups applesauce
2 cups flour
2 cups firmly packed coarsely grated carrots
1 cup raisins

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray two 9x13-inch pans with a non-fat cooking spray and lightly flour.

With mixer, beat egg whites until foamy, about one minute. Gradually beat sugar into egg whites. Beat the baking soda, salt, and cinnamon into egg mixture.

Beginning and ending with flour, gradually mix flour and applesauce into egg mixture. Fold in carrots and raisins.

Bake 40-50 minutes or until sides of cake are loose from edge of pans. Cool in pans for 10 minutes, then take the cakes out of pans and cool completely.

Yields 15 servings. 158 calories, 0.3gram fat.

APPLE CRUMB SQUARES

2 cups rolled oats, dry
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ cup butter, melted
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1¼ cups applesauce
⅔ cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease a 13x9x2-inch baking pan and set aside. Combine oats, flour, sugar, butter, cinnamon, baking soda, salt, and nutmeg. Mix thoroughly until crumbly. Reserving 1 cup mixture, transfer the remainder to prepared pan, put down and bake for 13 to 15 minutes. Cool.

Spread applesauce over partially baked crust, sprinkle with chopped nuts, then spread the reserved crumbs on top. Return to oven and bake for another 13-15 minutes until golden brown.

Place on wire rack to cool. Cut into desired size servings.

Makes 24 2-inch squares.

SCALLOPED APPLES

8 cups large sliced apples (10-12)
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup sugar

Crumb mixture

½ cup brown sugar
½ cup flour
¼ cup margarine

Combine flour, brown sugar. Then cut in margarine with a pastry blender to make crumb topping. Place ½ cup of apples in a buttered large casserole dish, ¼ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Then add ½ of crumb mixture. Repeat above directions. Pat down gently and bake 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

APPLE WASHINGTON

1 cup Bisquick baking mix
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ cup butter, softened
5 cups sliced pared apples

Heat oven at 375 degrees. Prepare 9x9x2-inch square baking pan with non-stick spray. Set aside.

Mix all ingredients together except apples and work until finely crumbed.

Pare apples and slice into baking pan then top with crumb mixture.

Bake 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve warm. Can be garnished with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes six servings.

APPLE BREAD

3 cups unsifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups sugar
1½ cups corn oil
4 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups peeled and coarsely chopped apples
1 cup chopped walnuts

Topping

⅓ cup flour
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup butter

Combine topping into crumbs and refrigerate while you mix the bread.

Grease and flour 2 loaf pans. Stir together the flour, baking soda, salt, and spices. In a separate bowl, beat together until smooth the sugar, corn oil, eggs, and vanilla. Stir in apples and nuts.

Turn into prepared pan. Sprinkle with topping. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 1¼ hours. Cool 10 minutes and then turn out of pan. Cool completely before slicing.

FRESH APPLE CAKE

Combine and beat for 2 minutes:
1¼ cups vegetable oil
2 cups sugar
Add 3 eggs
3 cups diced apples
½ cup chopped nuts
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon vanilla

Note: batter will be stiff. Grease and flour a 9X13 sheet pan. Shake some cinnamon on bottom of pan. Pour in batter and spread evenly in pan. Bake 325 degrees for 1 hour.

Topping

1 stick margarine
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup evaporated milk.

Bring topping ingredients to a boil and boil for 5-8 minutes. Let cool slightly. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Spread over cool cake.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send an SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Several months ago E. Stoltzfoos, Bird in Hand, cut out a cookie recipe from this section. She lost the recipe but recalls that some of the ingredients were whole wheat flour, wheat germ, oatmeal, nuts, and honey. Does anyone know to what recipe she is referring? Please send a copy.

QUESTION — An anonymous reader sent in a recipe for gingerbread baked in a jar and a number for the internet to receive more recipes. The internet number is wrong. Could the person who sent in the number, please send the correct number plainly printed for publication.

QUESTION — A New Jersey readers has lost her recipe for a wonderful muffin that contained carrots, apples, raisins, etc.

QUESTION — Susan Memmorich requests a recipe for German Apple Cake.

QUESTION — Marie Tschudin, Littlestown, requests a recipe for grape butter.

QUESTION — While traveling in Pennsylvania, Irene Greer from Richwood, W. Va., writes that she tasted cooked corn that had been dried. She wants to know what process is used to dry it and how it is prepared for the table once it is dried.

QUESTION — Susan Rzucidlo, Newark, Del., writes that while in Louisiana, she had guinea fricassee, which had a dark gravy and was delicious. Does anyone have the recipe?

QUESTION — Susan Rzucidlo, Newark, Del., lost her recipe for dill muffins that were light and airy and included cottage cheese.

QUESTION — Susan Rzucidlo, Newark, Del., would like a recipe for apple brown Betty with a lemon sauce.

QUESTION — G. Halteman would like a recipe for homemade butter made out of goat's milk. (According to an answer in this column, a butter recipe using cow's milk is interchangeable with goat's milk).

QUESTION — Penelope Kargas, Gettysburg, is searching for a recipe for tomato butter, which was made with skinned tomatoes with thin slices of lemon in it. She lost the recipe that had been handed down from her grandmother, but recalls that the butter was spread on bread like jam.

QUESTION — Jane Freed, Perkasie, is looking for a recipe for custard pumpkin pie, which has a layer of pumpkin on bottom and egg custard on top with a cinnamon top. She would like something similar to that made by Sadie's Bakery in Churchville.

QUESTION — A reader tasted a delicious cottage cheese soup at the Red Fox Inn at Snowshoe. Does anyone have a recipe for cottage cheese soup.

QUESTION — Carl Schintzel, Rockaway, N.J., remembers his mother used to make seasoned rice with cubed pieces of veal in it, which cooked all day on a wood or coal range. He doesn't remember the name or any other ingredients it might have contained, but the mixture was made in a deep gray graniteware lidded pot.

QUESTION — Betty Jakum, Littlestown, writes that she has successfully made sauerkraut for more than 15 years. However, this year, the cabbage she shredded and salted in a crock stopped fermenting after only one week. The mixture has not gone bad, but it has a different consistency and only a hint of the yellow color of sauerkraut and not much taste. Does anyone know what she had done wrong? She used pickling salt and placed a weighted plastic bag on top of the mixture. Perhaps some of the water in the bag leaked out, she drained off the excess water, but it hasn't helped. Any suggestions on how to save this batch?

QUESTION — Cel Brown of West Chester wants the recipe for a bread mix like the ones in the store called Daily Bread Company's. These mixes can be made ahead of time.

ANSWER — Rita Hodun, Calverton, NY, wanted a recipe for apricot and honey marinade for spare ribs. Thanks to Lee Laverty, Dover, N.J., for sending this recipe, which her mother used for barbecues. It also works well in the oven. Chinese Duck Sauce is found in supermarkets where condiments and ketchup are sold.

Bar-Bee-Que Sauce

16-ounce jar duck sauce
2-3 cloves garlic, sliced
1 teaspoon oregano (optional)
1½ cups honey
½ -¾ cup oil
½ teaspoon hot pepper flakes
¼ cup lemon juice
1 jar apricot preserve

Place all ingredients in blender or food processor and mix until smooth. Best if refrigerated overnight. This sauce lasts forever in refrigerator.

ANSWER — Mildred Hess, Myerstown, wanted recipes using tomatillos. Thanks to Lynn Rossi for sending the following recipe.

Salsa Verde

Blanch 2 minutes:
12 medium tomatillos
Process until coarsely blended:
3 jalapenos, seeded and sliced
2 teaspoons chopped fresh cilantro
2 teaspoons fresh lime juice
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon kosher salt

Plunge tomatillos in boiling water for about 2 minutes. This enhances flavor and makes peeling the tough papery skin easier. When slightly cool, remove papery husk and stem. Quarter the tomatillos and place in food processor. Don't blend yet. Add remaining ingredients. Pulse all ingredients together just until coarsely blended. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Apples

CRUMBLE TOPPING ON APPLE PIE FILLING

½ cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup reduced-fat butter
¼ cup chopped pecans
½ cup uncooked oatmeal
1 quart apple pie filling

In a separate bowl, mix the flours, the remaining 2 teaspoons sugar, and the nutmeg.

Cut in the butter until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Mix in the nuts and oatmeal.

Fruit filling: Prepare apples or any fruit filling recipe for a cobbler or crisp and put in a 1½ -quart baking dish. Top with crumble topping.

Crumble the mixture evenly over the fruit. Bake in preheated oven for approximate 45 minutes, or until the fruit is tender and the topping lightly browned. Cut into 8 servings. Serve warm.

APPLE CAKE

1 tablespoon corn syrup
1 cup sugar
¼ cup applesauce
¼ cup egg substitute
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups shredded peeled tart apples
¼ cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray 8x8-inch baking pan with cooking spray. In a mixing bowl, stir together corn syrup, sugar, and applesauce. Add the egg substitute and mix well.

Sift together flour, baking soda, cinnamon, and salt; add to liquid mixture and mix just until smooth. Fold in shredded apples and nuts.

Spread into prepared pan, bake 35 to 40 minutes or until cake starts to separate from sides of pan and is springy to touch. Cool on wire rack.

APPLE TOPPED OATCAKES

1½ cups hot milk
¾ cup old-fashioned oats
1 egg beaten
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons molasses
1 cup all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites

Lemon apples:
2 tablespoon butter
5 medium apples, peeled, sliced
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel (optional)
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

In a large bowl, combine milk and oats; let stand 5 minutes. Stir in egg, oil, and molasses. Combine dry ingredients; stir into oat mixture just until moistened. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form, fold gently into batter. Set aside. Heat butter in skillet until foamy. Add apples, lemon juice, and peel. Cook uncovered for 8-10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, cook oatcakes: Pour batter by ¼ cupfuls onto a hot greased skillet. Cook until bubbles form; turn and cook until browned on other side. For apples combine sugar, cornstarch, and nutmeg; add to apple mixture and cook 2 minutes longer or until tender. Serve warm over oatcakes.

York Fair Selects Kitzmiller For Special Award

WELLSVILLE (York Co.) — On Monday evening August 25, Paul Kitzmiller, son of Mrs. Thelma Kitzmiller of 8250 Harmon Grove Road, Wellsville, was chosen as the recipient of the York Fair FFA Special Award for 1997.

Kitzmiller was selected to receive the award, which is sponsored annually by the York Interstate Fair by a committee consisting of Pat Diebert of the Lincoln Intermediate Unit; John Smith, representing the York Fair Management; and Ed Heindel of the York office of Farm Credit Services.

Kitzmiller is a senior at the Northern York High School where he is the president of the local FFA chapter. He has also served as sentinel of his local FFA chapter. He attended the Pennsylvania FFA Convention held during June for the last three years and participated in the state livestock judging contest in 1995 and 1996 receiving silver and bronze awards respectively. He participated in the state extemporaneous public speaking contest in 1997 and received a gold award. He has also participated in the York County contests such as livestock judging, creed speaking, extemporaneous speaking, and recordkeeping.

Kitzmiller has been actively involved in York Fair activities such as livestsock judging and exhibiting market lambs. He has been involved in such state FFA activities as the Made for Excellence leadership conference and he has also attended the Adams-Franklin-York counties leadership training conference for FFA officers.

Kitzmiller has been involved in school activities such as football and baseball.

Kitzmiller's supervised occupational experience programs have consisted of sheep breeding, sheep finishing, beef finishing, swine finishing, and a work experience project of sheep shearing.

Each year the schools of York County having an FFA chapter may have students compete for the award. The winner is selected on the basis of participation at the York Interstate Fair, leadership, scholarship, project programs, participation in county and state FFA activities and a personal interview.

This year at the York Fair, Paul showed 14 breeding sheep, 7 market lambs, 2 steers, and 3 market hogs. In the junior Show he had champion and reserve champion Dorset and Montadale ram and ewe. Paul also won the blocking grooming contest. The blocking and grooming contest consists of taking an unshorn washed lamb and fitting it in one half hour. Then each contestant takes a written test, judges a class of market lambs, identifies various types of sheep equipment, and identifies different types of feed.

Paul Kitzmiller is the recipient of the York Fair FFA Special Award, selected on the basis of participation at the York Interstate Fair, leadership, scholarship, project programs, participation in county and state FFA activities.

In addition to the York Fair, Paul has exhibited his sheep at the Northeastern Youth Show in Springfield, MA; Montgomery County Fair, Gaithersburg, MD; South Mountain Fair, Ardentsville; and is planning on going to the Eastern National Livestock Show (Timonium, MD), Keystone International Livestock Exposition (Harrisburg), North American International Livestock Exposition (Louisville, KY) and the 1998 PA State Farm Show in Harrisburg.

In addition to Paul's FFA and school activities, he is a member of seven 4-H Clubs and is president of two of these clubs. Paul is planning on becoming a large animal veterinarian and is currently looking at attending either Delaware Valley College or Oklahoma State University in 1998.

Keep Kids Safe On Farm

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A 13-year-old Minnesota boy, helping his brothers unload a silage wagon, gets his shirt caught in a PTO shaft when he reaches across for a switch.

He loses both arms.

The mouth, esophagus, and digestive tract of a toddler is severly burned after the child ingests pipeline cleaner.

An 8-year-old boy, riding on a tractor with his father, acidently falls off and gets tangled in the rotary mower.

Thousands of farm-related tragedies such as these are documented each year, a painful reminder of just how dangerous farm-related products and equipment can be for young ones.

According to the National Safety Council, about 300 children die and more than 27,000 sustain serious injury each year in farm-chore related accidents.

"For the most part, accidents can be avoided with just a little common sense and simply telling the child 'no,' said Dee Jepsen, health and safety associate for Ohio State University Extension.

Most injuries and deaths on the farm occur when children are thrust into situations they are not yet physically or mentally old enough to handle.

A National Safety Council survey found that children ages 5 to 14 were two-thirds more likely to suffer a farm work accident than adults ages 45 to 64.

Comming farm accidents often involve tractors, rotary mowers, corn pickers, combines, and lawn mowers.

"Kids are trained to operate equipment at a young age. Parents put them in the field early for a variety of reasons: to instill work ethic and accept responsibility, because it's cheaper than to hire extra hands, or because there is a lack of child-care options," said Jepsen. "There's nothing wrong with these reasons, but we must do it in a way that complements childhood development."

Jepsen said children are introduced to farm life at an early age. Usually the first ride on a tractor takes place at the age of 3. The first time a child accompanies an adult to apply chemicals is often at the age of 4.

Children as young as 11 drive tractors and as young as 12 operate combines.

Federal law prohibits employers from hiring children under the age of 16 in agricultural jobs declared hazardous. Such hazardous jobs include operating a tractor unless certified (children 14 years old and up can obtain a license); operating any kind of farm equimpment such as a corn picker, feed grinder, hay baler, forage blower or grain combine; working on a farm in a yard or pen with bulls, boars or horses; handling and applying chemicals; handling or using blasting agents; or riding on a tractor as a passenger.

However, these laws don't apply to children who work on the family farm.

"Farmers enjoy a lot of leniency when it comes to the law," she said. "But that's the beauty of farming. It's more of a lifestyle than an occupation."

Law officials cannot prohibit a parent from giving their 3-year-old child a ride on a tractor, but child safety education starts with adults.

Parents and grandparents should be aware that there are plenty of tasks children of all ages can perform that are safer, Jepsen said.

Preschoolers (under the age of 5) can participate in watering plants and feeding small animals such as rabbits.

"They have a short attention span and their muscles are not yet fully developed," said Jepsen. "Don't put them in dangerous situations that require them to act quickly or give them anything that's real physical."

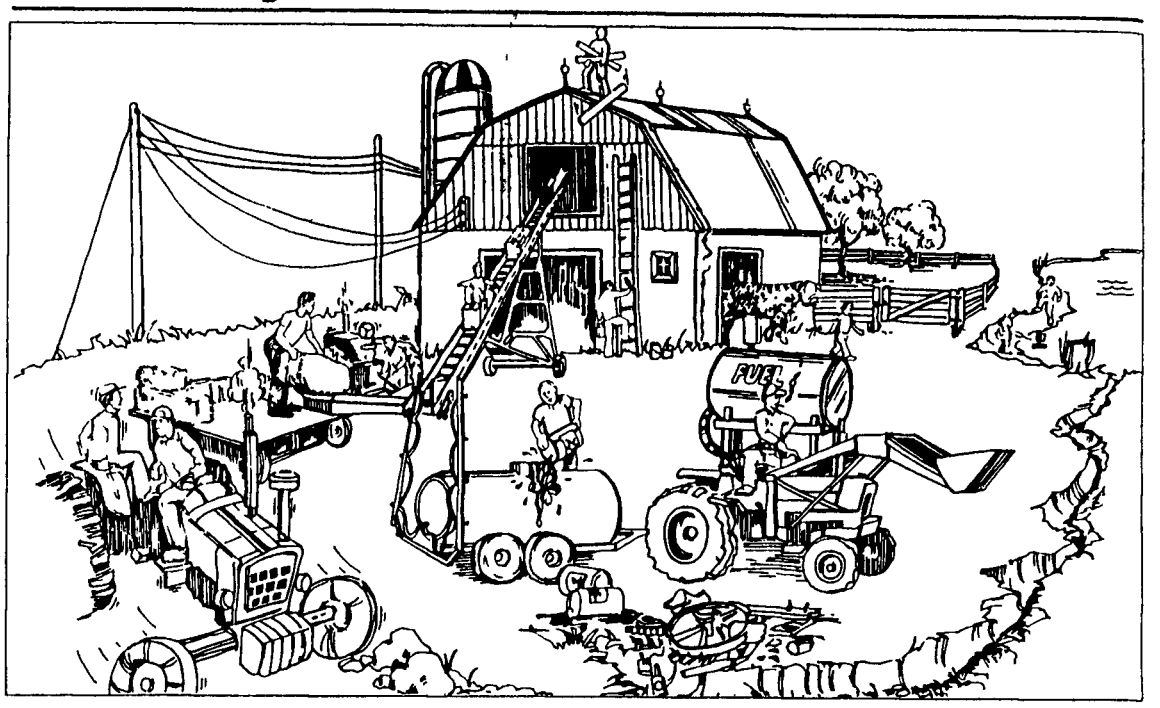
School-age children (6-11) are still developing eye-hand coordination, so giving them a power saw or sending them out in the field on a combine is not a good idea.

"Children this age are getting really good at organizing. So sit them in the middle of the shop and have them sort bolts and screws," Jepsen said. "You'll have a clean and organized shop before you know it."

Most adolescents (12-16) participate in farm labor, but the extent of the task should be based on maturity, judgment, and body size. Jepsen said children in this age group are taking on more responsibilities, but still need adult supervision.

"Use a little common sense," Jepsen said. "Let the children learn, but let them do it in a way that is easiest and most comfortable for them and that accounts fro their well-being."

How many Hazards can You find?



Farm Safety Quiz

1. When is it OK for children to ride on the lap of an older person?

   - ❒ If the child is over three years old
   - ❒ If the vehicle is not on a public road
   - ❒ If the vehicle is moving slowly
   - ❒ None of the above. It is never safe

2. Someone is caught in a machine on your farm and he can't talk to you. What should you do first?

   - ❒ Shut off the machine
   - ❒ Run for help
   - ❒ Try to pull them out

3. For a Farm Safety project, some of the things to check are:

   - ❒ Machinery for missing guards
   - ❒ Farm chemicals not locked up
   - ❒ Faded SMV (Slow Moving Vehicle) signs

4. Which of the following kinds of injury cause the most deaths to farm children?

   - ❒ Farm Machinery
   - ❒ Poisoning
   - ❒ Drowning
   - ❒ Electrocution

4-Year-Old Inspires Butter Sculpture

The idea for the "The Ultimate 'got milk?' Moment" came from 4½ -year-old Matthew Henry of Auburn, NY. Here, Henry explains to a WSTM-TV (NBC) reporter how he always makes sure to leave milk and cookies for Santa Claus on Christmas Eve. All three network TV stations, as well as the morning and evening Syracuse newspapers, covered the unveiling of the Annual Butter Sculpture.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Visitors to the dairy products building, during the New York State Fair, were greeted by an image usually seen much later in the year — Santa Claus! That's because this year's Butter Sculpture featured the jolly old elf enjoying his favorite snack of milk and cookies. Sponsored by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC), the 800-pound sculpture included two small children peeking around Santa's armchair to get a better look at the honored guest.

To increase publicity opportunities for the butter sculpture, ADADC invited the community to send in their suggestions for the annual creation. Contest criteria was simple: All suggestions were required to have a "got milk?" theme and had to include the contestant's answer to this question, "The one food I can't enjoy unless I've 'got milk?' is ." Newspapers throughout central New York printed the contest announcement, and hundreds of suggestions were received by mail, e-mail, and fax, and in all forms, from crayon drawings to photographs, computer generated designs, and small scale models.

The idea for this year's sculpture came from the Henry family of Auburn, NY. Homemade Christmas cookies are a long standing tradition in their family and the perfect combination with an ice cold glass of milk. The suggestion, which came from the Henry's 4½ -year-old son Matthew, won the family the honor of unveiling the sculpture, a year's supply of the ingredients to make their favorite food (but the milk they have to buy themselves), and assorted "got milk?" promotional items.

New York Media Churns Ice Cream

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC), sponsored the 6th Annual Media Ice Cream Making Contest on Dairy Day at the New York State Fair, Monday, August 28. Seven teams from local radio and television stations, as well as Syracuse's largest daily newspaper, were on hand to make ice cream the old-fashioned way. Here, New York State Dairy Princess Alison Littlefield and Alternate Princess Lois Lewis are putting their taste buds to the test as they begin sampling team flavors.

You ask

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Farm Women Society #18 met for their September meeting in the beautiful farm home of one of the member's daughter. Anna Esbenshade's daughter Helen Roherer. Twenty-two members and guests attended this meeting with Martha Stoner, vice president, presiding in the presidents absence. Ruth Roherer's devotions centered around poems.

The speaker, Marjorie Jackson, described the War Years in China, when she and other missionary children were confined in their school in Chu Foo for seven years without seeing their parents from 1945 to the end of hostilities. Even concentrating sincerely on could not enter into agonies of parents deported and children separated with unknown happenings to their loved ones many, many miles away.

Members will be filling shoe boxes to donate for needy children abroad for Christmas. A donation was voted for Hospice. Members of Societies, some charter members, now in their 70s wish to be relieved of county and state responsibilities yet remaining together to continue the friendships and meetings will be known as "Groups at Large." They could welcome new members who are now at leisure and wish to become a part of the caring, loyal ladies of such a group with all the sharing in the meetings. We want them to grow, not go into decline. The meeting ended with the usual Farm Women's Theme Song, "Brighten the corner where you are," and the dismissal.

FFA

Manor FFA

During the summer, three students from the Manor FFA Chapter attended the National Institute of Cooperative Education (NICE) Conference, held in Pittsburgh in August.

The conference was designed to educate students about the basic principles of cooperatives. Students who attended NICE included Tyler Swanson and Michelle Scheid, from Conestoga, and Dan Hess of Pequea.

During the conference, students attended a career fair, developed their own cooperative, and spoke with representatives from many successful businesses.

NICE is a national event attended by students from all over the country. In order to be eligible for the conference, students had to first attend their local cooperative institute and complete an application. From there, judges selected several individuals to represent their region.

Consuming Thoughts

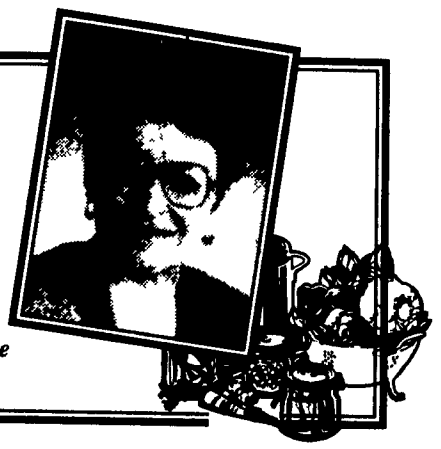
Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.



Since school started several weeks ago, you probably are settling into a routine of balancing work, family and meal preparation. In most cases you want tasty, healthy meals, but you also want them on the table in 30 minutes or less. Sound impossible? Not, if you try these time-saving tips and recipes.

• Stock your freezer and cabinets with easy-to-fix staples like canned or frozen vegetables, lean ground beef, fish fillets, boneless chicken breasts, pasta and rice.

• If time is more important than money, buy pre-sliced, diced and prewashed fruit and vegetables from the produce section or salad bar. Buy sliced, shredded or grated cheese, and check the meat department for fillets, kabobs or marinated meats.

• Jot down menu ideas in advance. This way you have a game plan and can defrost your meat in the refrigerator overnight. Planning can also help to save time when shopping and reduce the number of trips to the grocery store. Save more time by not shopping at peak times.

• Cook foods quickly. Steaming, microwaving, broiling or stir-frying can save you time, fat and calories.

• When you do have time to cook, double your recipes and freeze extra for another day.

Americans have a passion for pasta in any way, shape or sauce. No wonder! What other food is so easy to prepare, comforting, asatisfying, and versatile? Simple boil water, toss is some pasta, and your menu's mainstay is only minutes away. And whether your sauce is tomato-y, creamy, meaty or meatless...add it to a casserole...or top it with chili the way folks favor in Cincinnati, pasta is one food that's as good as guaranteed to please practically everybody.

In a rare twist of nutritional fate, something we like is actually good for us. In fact, pasta is really good for us. It's protein-packed, loaded with energy-giving complex carbohydrates, and extremely low in fat and sodium. One cup of enriched pasta weighs in at only about 210 calories with only one gram of fat.

For speed and convenience try preparing pasta favorites in the microwave. You can cook eight ounces of dry pasta (any shape) in two cups of water in the same amount of time as stove top cooking requires. You don't have to boil the water first or drain the pasta after cooking. Adding some shredded cheese to the cooked pasta will absorb excess starch.

Refrigerated or frozen filled pastas such as ravioli or tortellini cook faster in the microwave than on the stove. Look for microwave directions on the package. Also try precooked, instant noodles in microwave dishes.

Some tips for microwaving pasta casseroles:

• Select round or oval microwavable casserole dishes with lids.

• For even heat distribution, stir casseroles once or twice during cooking.

• For dishes like lasagna which can't be stirred, shield the short ends of the dish with 2 inch strips of foil for part of the cooking time to prevent overcooking.

• Elevate the dish on a rack or inverted bowl to help the bottom to cook.

• Rotate the dish after half the cooking time to insure even cooking.

• Let casseroles stand after removing from the microwave oven to complete the cooking, melt cheese and allow flavors to blend.

Barner's Church Prepares Apple Butter Boil

LIVERPOOL (Perry Co.) — As the leaves start to turn colors and the air turns cool, a small country church starts to prepare for their annual Apple Butter Boil. Scarcely 40 miles up the Susquehanna River from Harrisburg, and just a few miles back in the hills from the tiny riverside town of Liverpool, sits a red brick church known at St. John's (Barner's) Lutheran Church. On October 11, the church will hold their 45th Annual Apple Butter Boil.

In the weeks prior to this event, much preparation is needed. There is planning and ordering and advertising. Then there is wood to be gotten for the boiling of the apple butter, all foods are prepared, snitzing (paring and coring of apples for the applee butter) by many in the community, and much other work detail, which could go on and on...Everyone has a job and as long as everyone works together it will remain a success.

As many sleep through the midnight hours, the men will be putting on the freshly pressed cider to boil it down over the open fires. As dawn breaks through the night sky, the first bucket of snitz (sliced apples) is added to the boiled-down cider. By the time the first kettle is ready, the church grove is buzzing with activity. The women gather to prepare the meals and set up the craft table. By 9:30 a.m. all is ready for the people who make the annual pilgrimage to this 200-year old church for a day of fellowship, fun, and history.

The event includes apple butter boiling, a craft table, a concession stand, and a delicious Dutch dinner of bott-boi (potpie) with all the trimmings. The apple butter is boiled in antique copper kettles and is for sale on the grounds. Bring your own jars. The craft table is set up in the church grove. Many members donate items for sale that demonstrate their talents. What a variety of crafts and souvenirs can be purchased on that day. Lutheran Brotherhood Agency, Perry County Branch 8868, Agency #00165, matches up to $450 of the total sales on that day, and the proceeds from the craft table sales stay with St. John's (Barner's) Lutheran Church, which is most often applied to the building fund each year, or to some other worthy cause.

The concession stand sells homemade chicken corn soup, homemade ham and bean soup, bar-be-cue sandwiches, hotdogs, homemade pies and ice cream, and the famous hot apple butter sundaes. The highlight of the day is the Dutch dinner. The dinner includes chicken or beef potpie, corn, peas, red beets, pickles, coleslaw, freshly made apple butter, schmier-kase, and homestyle bread. The price is $6 for adults and $3.50 for children. Dessert is extra. The dinner is served family style and is all you can eat.

If you want to make the pilgrimage to the little red brick church that's perched atop a hill in Perry County, the directions are simple. Take Routes 11 & 15 to Liverpool, PA. Turn left onto Route 17. About one mile from Liverpool, turn right onto Route 235. Follow the apple butter signs to the Church on the hill. Come and enjoy seeing how our ancestors boiled apple butter. Enjoy the fellowship that the members of Barner's Church has to offer.

The Annual Apple Butter Boil takes place each year, rain or shine.

Members of 4-H, their families and friends enjoyed three days of fun, educational exhibits and activities, including the swine, goat, sheep, rabbit, and horse shows and the 4-H project exhibits at the Northampton 4-H Roundup.

The fun took an entertaining turn when six county officials took part in the annual Milk-Out. Grand champion milker for this year was Bill Brackbill, county executive. Tied for second place was Craig Dally, state representative and Ron Heckman, county council member. Also competing from county council were Cindy Marackovitz and Glenn Reibman and milking winners from past years, Bath Mayor Donald Wunderler. These six contestants also took part in a potato picking contest.

SIMPLE SNACKS FOR KIDS

Snacking has become a way of life for both adults and children. Unfortunately, many standard snack foods are high in fat, sugar, and sodium. As most of us already know, repeatedly consuming these foods can lead to poor nutrition and health. If you are a parent or provider who struggles with providing healthy snacks, the following ideas may be helpful to you.

SHOPPING TIPS

• When shopping, let youngsters help pick out fruits, vegetables, and cheeses; they'll be more interested in eating them.

• Plan and prepare extra servings at mealtimes to be saved for snacks, for example, cold chicken legs, meat for sandwiches, salads, or cups of soup.

• Set aside a "snack spot" in the refrigerator and cupboard; keep it stocked with nutritious ready to eat snacks. This will also help "save" leftovers designed for a second meal.

• Offer snacks at regular times, such as midmorning and midafternoon. Don't let children nibble constantly during the day.

• Avoid high sugar, fatty, and salty snacks, such as candy, unenriched crackers, and hard pretzels that will crowd out nutritious snacks.

• Caffeine-containing beverages, such as coffee, tea, and some soft drinks, are not suitable for children. Check label's for the differences between fruit juices and fruit-flavored drinks.

• Special snacks do not have to be sweet and gooey. Let the children help make homemade bread, or purchase fresh fruit in season.

• Snacks are a good way to introduce new foods. Include a game or activity to learn about the new food — let the child help prepare it.

SIMPLE SNACK IDEAS

Fresh and Raw Vegetables:

Serve the following alone or with cheese, cottage cheese or yogurt dips, or peanut butter: celery, carrot, cauliflower, broccoli, green pepper, green beans, cucumbers, mushrooms, zucchini.

Fresh Fruit:

Choose small, whole fruits in season to reduce cost and waste; cut in slices or halves for variety. Monitor for seeds, pits, and tough skin, depending on the age of the child. Serve plain or with cottage cheese, ricotta cheese, or yogurt: apples, apricots, bananas, cherries, grapefruit sections, peaches, grapes (seedless for preschoolers), oranges, pears, plums, melons, pineapple, strawberries.

Breads, Crackers, Cookies, and Crunchies:

Vary your snacks by serving plain or with cheese or peanut butter and milk or fruit juice. Try pumpkin, zucchini, banana, or cranberry bread; and bran, corn, apple, banana, or blueberry muffins. Serve bagels, homemade soft pretzels, bread sticks, cereals, or a snack mix made with popcorn and whole grain cereal. Plain cookies, such as oatmeal or molasses, add variety. Reminder to Parents of Preschoolers:

Children under school age can choke easily on some foods, including nuts, popcorn, pits or seeds from fruit, and chunks of hard vegetables, such as carrots. Grated or finely chopped foods may reduce the risk of choking.

Baby Workshop

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — "Caring for Baby in the First Year" is the title of a three-part workshop series for parents and caregivers of children under one year of age and parents-to-be. The series is being offered by the Obstetrics Unit of Memorial Hospital, Towanda and Penn State Cooperative Extension of Bradford County.

The workshops will be held on Thursdays, October 16, 23, and 30 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at Memorial Hospital in the adult day care room of the Skilled Nursing Unit.

There is no fee to attend the workshops. Persons planning to attend are asked to register by contacting either the Memorial Hospital Obstetrics Unit at (717) 268-2252 or the Extension Office at phone (717) 265-2896.

Recognize, Control Garden Plant Disease

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Few things are as frustrating for the home gardener as poor plant growth and nonproductive or dying plants. A major cause of plant problems in the garden is disease.

Many plant diseases can be minimized or eliminated if you know how to recognize them, says Dr. Alan MacNab, professor of plant pathology in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Unhealthy plants usually result from some form of external irritation," say MacNab. "Injury, or instantaneous irritation, can be caused by animal or insect chewing, lightning, freezing, burning, excess or inappropriate chemicals, and careless use of garden tools.

"Disease, on the other hand, is a product of continuous irritation. This can be caused by fungi, bacteria, viruses, nematodes, parasitic plants, temperature extremes, pesticides, improper pH, or incorrect amounts of water, light or nutrients."

MacNab says accurate diagnosis is the first step in overcoming a plant problem. Once the cause is known, steps can be taken to overcome the problem or prevent its spread.

When diagnosing a plant problem, there are several questions to consider:

• What are the symptoms? Usually, a few specific symptoms develop, which can indicate a specific problem.

• Are insects evident? Insect problems are easy to diagnose when insects are visible. But if insects are small or have left the plant, diagnosis must be based on symptoms or microscopic observations.

• What plants are affected? Organisms that cause problems prefer some plants over others. Most infest only related plants or one plant species. Adverse environmental conditions generally affect a wide range of plant species.

• What is the pattern of symptom development? Symptoms appearing on widely separated plants may indicate that an organism was introduced by seeds, transplants or flying insects. Symptoms appearing in only one part of the garden suggest problems specific to that area, such as soil-borne organisms, poor soil drainage or improper planting depth.

• Does the problem appear to be spreading? Many disease-causing organisms, such as mites, insects or microorganisms, can move from leaf to leaf or plant to plant.

• Did symptoms appear after you performed specific gardening practices? We often cause plant problems inadvertently. Excessive fertilization near plants can cause root burn and plant wilting. Deep cultivation or pulling large weeds near plants can damage roots and cause water stress, resulting in wilting and leaf curling. Herbicides can damage garden plants when a sprayer is contaminated from prior use or drift occurs when spraying a surrounding lawn.

• Did symptoms appear following specific weather conditions? Sunlight and wind can dry out "soft" transplants that are inadequately prepared for outdoor weather. Sunlight can burn tomatoes and peppers when their leaves fail to shade the fruit. Frequent rain promotes reproduction of some disease-causing bacteria and fungi. Wet soil can cause root rot and plant wilting.

If observation or laboratory analysis indicates that a microorganism is the culprit, MacNab says there are several steps you can take to control the problem or prevent its reoccurence in the future:

1. Choose a garden site with ample sunshine, air circulation and drainage. Many fungal and bacterial diseases are most serious in chronically wet conditions.

2. Change the garden's location occasionally, and always practice crop rotation within your garden plot. Many diseases, especially soil-borne diseases, are most severe when the same or related crops are grown in the same area year after year.

3. Fertilize and lime your garden as recommended by soil test results. Plants grown with balanced fertility and optimum pH are less susceptible to diseases than excessively weak or vigorous plants.

4. Grow disease-resistant varieties when available and suitable for local use.

5. Use disease-free seed and transplants. Obtain seed from a reputable company. Obtain transplants from a greenhouse operator who uses disease-free seed and soil.

6. Control insects.

7. Control weeds. Perennial weeds near the garden often are the initial source of viruses in the spring. Dense weeds in the garden promote fungal and bacterial harvest diseases.

8. Pull and destroy diseased plants soon after harvest. Compost or plow under crop refuse as soon as possible after harvest to promote decomposition and kill disease-causing organisms.

9. Spray or dust appropriate crops with fungicides to control specific diseases. If you must use fungicides, be sure to read and follow label instructions.

Pennsylvania Farm Women Name Scholarship Winners

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — The Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women has announced the awarding of eight scholarships to students pursuing advanced levels of education in agriculture and home economics related studies.

"Because of our level of available scholarship money, we have been able to give eight scholarships this year, four of them for $1,000 each and four at $500 each," says Naomi Bupp, Glen Rock, chairman of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women Scholarship Fund.

Funding for the scholarships is generated through a 40-cent checkoff from the annual dues of each of the Society's 3,000-plus members, plus profits from the more than 21,500 Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women's cookbooks sold since 1991. To be eligible for scholarship consideration, students must be pursuing advanced studies, beyond high school, in the areas of agriculture or home economics, and must be the child or grandchild of a Society member.

Recipients of this year's scholarship awards are Elizabeth Harmon, Jonestown; Daniel Heller, Ephrata; Michael Miduri, Pittsburgh; Cory Myers, St. Thomas; Bryan Pearson, Summerhill; Amanda Wengert, Shippensburg; and Jere Wingert, St. Thomas.

Elizabeth Harmon, 17, is the daughter of Patty Harmon, Jonestown. She is a graduate of Northern Lebanon High School and a student at the Pennsylvania Institute of Culinary Arts in Pittsburgh. Her interest is to work in the food service industry. She was a member of the varsity track and basketball teams and active in several of Northern Lebanon's band and chorus musical groups. Her grandmother, Mary Pankake, is a member of the Dauphin County Farm Women.

Daniel Heller, 20, is the son of Fred and Julie Heller, Ephrata. He is a student at Harrisburg Area Community College and a graduate of Lancaster Mennonite High School. He was student council president, active in the FFA, and an Honor Society member. Daniel managed and helped develop public events at Hammer Creek Exotics, an exotic petting zoo, and currently helps to manage the family's 250,000-bird poultry operation. His grandmother, Anne Landis, is a member of Lancaster County Society Group No. 1.

Amanda Wengert

Michael Miduri, 19, is the son of Deb Kortezky, Halifax. He is a student at the Pennsylvania Culinary Arts School, Pittsburgh, with the goal of owning and operating his own restaurant. Michael is a graduate of Mechanicsburg Area High School, where he was active in videography of various student events. Along with various church and community activities, Michael served on the Halifax Area 200th Anniversary committee. His grandmother, Verna Miller, is a member of Dauphin County Society Group No. 10.

Cory Myers, 19, is the son of Elam and Diana Myers, St. Thomas. He is a student at Penn State, majoring in dairy and animal science, with the goal of becoming a veterinarian. Cory, a James Buchanan High School graduate, was a member of the state 4-H dairy judging team and is active with the Penn Sate Dairy Science Club. His grandmother, Helen Myers, is a member of Franklin County Society Group 5.'

Bryan Pearson, 21, is the son of Joseph and Suzanne Pearson, Summerhill. He is a graduate of Bishop Carroll High School and a student at Penn State. Bryan is majoring in wildlife and fisheries science, with a career goal of working with environmental issues, and he has helped establish the American Fishery Society Chapter at the university. Bryan's mother is a member of Cambria County Society's Cambria Township group.

Amanda Wengert, 18, is the daughter of Donald and Donna Wengert, Shippensburg. She is a vo-ag graduate of Shippensburg Area Senior High School and is currently attending Delaware Valley College. Amanda was a four-year member of the FFA and held various offices, including chaplain, secretary and vice president. Her goal is to become a vocational agriculture teacher, Amanda's mother is a member of Franklin County Society Group No. 17.

Jere Wingert, 34, is a student at Penn State Mont Alto campus, pursuing a degree in ag systems management. He manages the Eugene Wingert family's beef, swine and crops farm at St. Thomas. Jere is a 1984 recipient of the FFA's American Farmer Degree, active in local and community organizations, and a member of the boards of the Franklin County Extension Service, Franklin County Fair Association and Penn State's Agr-Ability for Pennsylvania's organization. Jere's mother, Betty is past Franklin County Society president and a member of Group No. 9.

Janice Youse, 18, is the daughter of Paul and Linda Youse. She is a student at Penn State Berks campus, pursuing studies in food science and agriculture economics. Janice is a graduate of Oley Valley High School, where she was active in the FFA. She was a 4-H member and active with dairy bowl, judging and Berks County Junior Holstein club. Janice's mother is a member of Berks County Society Group No. 6.

Chester County Posts 4-H Dairy Goat Results

HONEY BROOK (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup was held here recently for the first time at the new Chester County Romano 4-H Center.

A total of 13 project goats were shown and four 4-H youth participated. This year the show was divided into two breed classes — Alpines and Nubians.

Heather Glennon, Bucks County 4-H extension agent and a former 4-H Dairy Goat Club member placed the animals and instructed the 4-Hers in how to improve their showing and fitting techniques. In the Alpine class, Jessica Bohmier of New London captured senior and grand champion with her doe, Magnolia, in the 5-year-old and over class. She also received the reserve senior and reserve grand title with Honeynut, her second entry in the 5-year-old and over class. Karat, who showed in the 4-to-12-month-old kid class, was the junior champion for Jessica Bohmier, with Joe Batchelder of Glen Mills winning the reserve junior ribbon with Jellyrole, who showed in the 12-to-24-month-old class.

Veronica Bates of Gradyville won top honors in the Nubian class when her 3-to-5-year-old doe, Buttercup, was named senior and grand champion. Veronica also received the reserve senior and reserve grand champion with Midnight, a doe in the 1-and under 2-year-old class. The junior champion in this division went to Melissa Wertz, Phoenixville, with Christin, an outstanding 0-to--4-month-old kid. Melissa also received the reserve junior champion award with her 0-to--4-month-old kid, Cookie.

The highlight of the roundup was when the judge selected Jessica Bohmier's grand champion Alpine doe, Magnolia, for best in show honors and her reserve champion Alpine, Honeynut, for the reserve best in show ribbon.

In the fitting and showing competition, Veronica Bates of Gradyville wast the junior champion showman for members under 14 years old. Jessica Bohmeir of New London was named junior champion fitter for the same age group. In the senior competition, Melissa Wertz of Phoenixville received both champion showman and champion fitter awards.

Teachers To See Conservation At Work

WARREN (Warren Co.) — The Warren County Soil Conservation District, in cooperation with the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and the North Jersey Resource Conservation and Development Council (RC&D), will be the host of a bus tour for Warren County teachers on Oct. 6.

The tour, part of the countywide in-service program for teachers, will highlight agriculture to explain the various conservation practices and new technology farmers are implementing to reduce non-point source pollution and improve water quality in the 157-square-mile Musconetcong Watershed.

A watershed is the total surface of the land over which water flows, draining water, sediment and dissolved materials in to the channel of a water body. Nonpoint source pollution is created by fertilizers, lawn chemicals, sewage, and animal manure which pollutes soil and surface water.

Scheduled stops on the tour will be as follows: Donaldson Farms in Mansfield highlighting erosion control and irrigation, Smith Farm in Washington Township describing manure management, Schnetzer Farm in Asbury explaining integrated crop management and, finally, Butler Park to emphasize the use of trees and other plant material as riparian stream buffers.

The various speakers will include Dan Jones, district conservationist with the NRCS, Sue Jones, an agent with the Rutgers Cooperative Extension, John Metrick, a soil conservationist with the NRCS, and Brian Aldrich, an agronomist also with the RC&D.

Dauphin County 4-H Holds 17th Annual Fair

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 17th Annual Dauphin County 4-H Fair was held Aug. 6 - 9 here at the Farm Show Complex.

This annual event is the culmination of the project year fo the more than 2,300 members enrolled in 4-H in Dauphin County. At the fair, each member has a chance to display what he or she learned and have their display evaluated. Awards are given to the members according to the quality of their exhibit.

"The 1997 Fair was the largest, and best yet," according to Fred Rudy, extension 4-H agent. "This year we saw real growth in the number of home economics and general projects. Our sheep, goat, and hog shows were also larger. The only thing missing was the poultry, which was not at the fair due to the avian influenza outbreak."

Following is a list of show placings.

Safety: Apply It First

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — "Safety: Apply It First," the national safety program targeting all agricultural chemical handlers who use carbamate and organophosphate pesticides, will launch its year-long campaign in November, when safety kits and other educational materials will become available to growers and dealers.

Eight agricultural chemical manufacturers joined forces to start the Safety: Apply It First program in an effort to reach users with important safety reminders during applications of the carbamate and organophosphate pesticides, said Allen Scarborough, manager of technical issues and environmental affairs for Rhone Poulenc Ag Company and member of the Safety: Apply It First committee.

"All Safety: Apply It First campaign efforts will urge dealers, applicators and growers to join us in promoting the safe handling of these chemicals," Scarborough said. "Our goal is to have all chemical handlers who use carbamates and organophosphates order our safety awareness kits that will give them the fundamental safety measures to follow during handling and application. We have establilshed a toll-free number to make ordering free safety awareness kits easy."

Dealers, applicators, growers, and other chemical handlers can receive more information about the Safety: Apply It First program by contacting a sales representative for one of the sponsoring companies, or by calling (800) 233-1909.

Beginning on Nov. 3, the toll-free number can be used to obtain more information about the program, tips about the safety issues surrounding the organophosphate and carbamate pesticides, and to order free kits.

The kits will include informative brochures and tools such as pesticide hopper box stickers, sealable clothing bags in which to temporarily hold contaminated clothes, cab window stickers, and spray boom signs that will serve as constant safety reminders during applications. The instructions on all materials will appear in English, Spanish, and easy-to-understand symbols to keep safe handling top of mind.

Dealers will be given counter displays in which to display the safety brochures, which will cover more in-depth do's and don'ts of carbamate and organophosphate handling. The brochures will also explain the risks and symptoms of overexposure in greater detail.

Safety: Apply It First is an educational initiative led by a consortium of eight agricultural chemical companies, including American Cyanamid Company, Bayer Corporation, Cheminova Agro, FMC Corporation, Makhteshim-Agan, Novartis Crop Protection, Rhone-Poulenc Ag Company and Valent USA Corporation. The program's goal is to encourage applicators to follow proper stewardship practices when using carbamate and organophosphate pesticides.

BRETHREN DISASTER RELIEF SALE

The Atlantic-Northeast and the Southern Pennsylvania districts of the Church of the Brethren held its annual Brethren Disaster Relief auction Friday and Saturday at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds.

The relief sale was conducted by 18 local auctioneers. Organizers estimated the auction crowd at 7,500 people.

Among the livestock items sold were 75 dairy cows and heifers, at a total of $65,000 and approximately 80 head of various livestock including pigs, calves and rabbits for $13,700. Also sold were 146 quilts that raised $43,000. Among those sold were: three queen-size quilts, Bargello quilt $3000, Martha Washington Star quilt $2500, and Country Vineyard quilt $2100.

A representative of the Longaberger Basket Co. was present making baskets which were then sold. A total of $6200 was raised from 14 baskets. Other items included a 3-D Abner Zook painting of a Griest Mill scene $11,700, various artifacts from the Mohler Church of the Brethren, Harrisburg $8600, and empty cherry pie plate $1785.

In addition to the auction items, a check for the sale of a house was presented Saturday in the amount of $83,000. The house was built and sold to raise money for disaster relief. Mr. and Mrs. Brian Markle, Chambersburg bought the property in East Berlin, Adams County. Brethren Disaster Relief also received money donated from a portion of Marvin D. Messick's estate worth $28,000 and an April benefit banquet for Reenie Lazer raised $45,000.

Apart from the items sold, a two-story Colonial American house built for the auction remains unsold. The property, in the Pleasant View Estate development in Mount Joy, is on sale for $189,000.

This year, the organization has raised $552,579 to date.

Dairy Roundup Largest Show In Years

HONEY BROOK (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup was held for the first time at the new Romano 4-H Center.

The showing and fitting contest was judged by Tim Robbins of Scotrun, and Kraig Sellers of Lebanon. Champion first-year showmanship honors went to Beverly Stoltzfus of Elverson. Beverly's sister, Jennifer, was the reserve champion first-year showman. For the first-year fitting honors, the judges choose Patricia Harrop and Jennifer Stoltzfus for champion and reserve, respectfully. In the junior division, under 14 years old, Katie Bates from Gradyville, was named junior champion showman/fitter and Rachel Gibian, Kennett Square, took reserve. The senior division saw Meredith Baily of West Chester win the championship and Craig Nolan was close behind, taking second place.

BUSINESS ◆ NEWS

Company Sells Division

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — Gro-Mor Plant Food Company Inc., Leola, has sold its nutrient management planning and farm computer software sales division known as Nutrient Solutions in Agriculture to a new corporation known as Nutrient Solutions In Agriculture Inc. (NSIA, Inc.), which has purchased all of the related assets and records of the business.

The new corporation has its main office in Palmyra and is headed by Martin Campfield, former director of agronomic services for Gro-Mor's division.

NSIA will continue to market professional nutrient management planning services to customers throughout the U.S. and will continue serving as the northeastern U.S. distributor for Farm Works™ suite of farm management software.

Unique Windows™ based nutrient management software called the Nutrient Management Planner© developed by Campfield while under the employ of Gro-Mor has also been purchased and will be licensed to NSIA, Inc. for international marketing and distribution on their web site (www.nutrient-solutions.com) and through their other various marketeing channels and distributors.

Gro Mor Plant Food Company will continue to offer its full range of complete true solution liquid fertilizers to farmers in the eastern U.S. from the Leola office and manufacturing plant and their New York bulk station.

Turchi Joins Moyer & Son

SOUDERTON (Montgomery Co.) — Joseph (Jay) Turchi Jr. recently joined Moyer & Son's plant nutrients staff.

Turchi grew up in and around the green industry, beginning his career at the age of six working for his family's landscape business. While managing the Turchi Lawn Care business, Turchi attended Delaware Valley College where he attained a bachelor's degree in agronomy.

Turchi brings to Moyer & Son's plant nutrient's division a solid background in soils and land use planning, excellent field skills, and a sound understanding of turfgrass management. He will be servicing Moyer & Son liquid and dry fertilizer customers in southeastern Pennsylvania, northern Maryland, southern New Jersey, and Delaware.

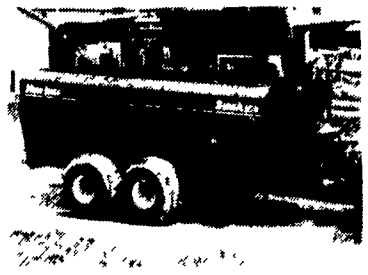
Spreaders Feature Even Field Distribution

ATLANTA, Ga. — SideKick 3300 side-delivery spreaders from New Idea are designed with twin conveyor augers and aggressive expeller action to distribute the most inconsistent waste materials evenly across the field.

The 3300 Series offers three models with different load capacities. The Model 3314 has a load capacity of 1,441 gallons (280 bushels), the Model 3322 has a capacity of 2,247 gallons (408 bushels) and the Model 3329 loads out at 2,955 gallons (485 bushels).

All three models feature twin vertical expellers driven by a high-torque, dual planetary drive system at speeds up to 862 RPM. These expellers deliver an aggressive shredding action that finely chops waste materials into a consistency that spreads uniformly across the field.

SideKick spreaders also deliver a flatter, more uniform pattern without leaving manure clumps in the field. This means more efficient use of manure as fertilizer for next year's crop. With a 17-inch field clearance, SideKicks can work in all types of fields, from heavy corn stubble to deep snow, without getting bogged down.



White-New Idea 3329 SideKick Spreader.

A special V-tank design lets SideKick spreaders handle both dry and liquid waste materials with ease. From heavy pen-pack to gritty poultry litter to waste slurry — it's no problem.

New Idea SideKick spreaders are built to handle extreme temperature ranges and working conditions. The mainframe and tank are welded to prevent rust. Sidewalls are made of Cor-Ten A steel, which has a high tolerance to rust under extreme working conditions and in corrosive environments, and is backed by a 10-year manufacturer's warranty against corrosion.

SideKicks are noted for working at high-efficiency levels with smaller horsepower tractors. The SideKick 3314, for example, requires only a 60 horsepower tractor. The SideKick 3322, which comes in either pull-type design or a truck-mounted version, requires a 90 horsepower tractor. The larger Model 3329 also comes in pull-type or truck-mounted design and requires a 120 hp tractor for the pull-type version.

Novartis Launches Web Site

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Novartis Seeds, Inc. fields crop division officially launched its web site in May 1997.

Located at www.nk.com, the "Cob Web" page provides farmers with information on the latest advances in production agriculture.

Toward the end, Novartis updates the site whenever there is new and relevant information, but never less than three times each week, when company agronomists post new agronomic information. The web site is divided into eight main sections.

Web site sections include:

• NK Wired: Company agronomists provide commentaries every other week day on crop production issues. Producers can join the discussion, posting their thoughts on the issue of the day, or any other facet of crop production.

• Tool Shed: Stores easy-to-use number-crunching programs. Here producers can calculate income lost due to European corn borer damage, predict corn yield losses due to plant defoliation, determine proper seed spacing based on row width and plant population, compute growing degree days and more.

• Info Silo: Producers can use online seed guides to compare agronomic characteristics between NK Brand product lines. Also stockpiled in this section are farm trivia factoids, short agronomic columns from Novartis Seeds agronomists and past issues of NK Wired, the company's daily online agronomic newsletter.

• Bite Protection/Maximizer: Focuses on seed technology products such as European corn borer-protected corn. In the Corn Borer Scouting discussion group, producers can compare notes on infestation levels, treatment options and economic thresholds. Two of the company's agronomists, Dave Dornbos, Ph.D., and Jim Graeber, Ph.D., moderate the discussion area.

• ConNeKtions: Allows users to discover and link with the favorite web sites of various Novartis Seeds employees.

• Dealers: Farmers can quickly search for their local Novartis Seeds dealer.

• NK Theater: Contains several brief video clips and other free, downloadable programs, including an animated screen saver.

• Ask NK & Tell NK: These sections allow users to e-mail their questions or comments to Novartis Seeds. In most cases, farmers can expect a reply within 24 hours.

New Holland Introduces Haybine Mower-Conditioner

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The new Model 1465 Haybine® mower-conditioner from New Holland features a new header design with 9-foot 3-inch cutterbar, 5-bat reel for more uniform crop flow, 102-inch chevron-design conditioner rolls for fast-drying, and wide-swath or fully adjustable windrow forming.

An enclosed wobble gearbox sickle drive provides smooth dependable cutting. Sickle knife assemblies are bolted for simpler, quicker replacement.

The new Haybine features a light-weight header for improved flotation. With conditioner rolls mounted in the frame, the cutterbar and reel are independent and respond quickly to uneven fields.

Conditioner rolls are driven by straight-spline, telescoping shafts. The 1465 reel drive idler is spring-loaded to protect against overloads. Equal-angel PTO reduces noise and vibration. A bumper on the tongue helps prevent over-90-degree right turns and PTO bottoming out. Mechanical tongue shift and hydraulic tongue shift are available.

Conditionoer roll pressure is adjustable without tools. Torsion bar roll pressure system maintains near constant pressure in varying crop conditions, but releases pressure to pass slugs without plugging.

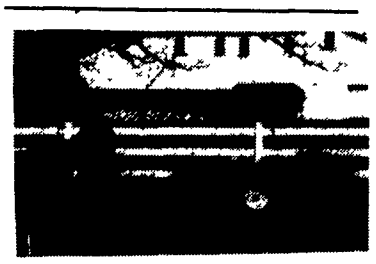
Compact Spreader For Horse Lovers

BIRD IN HAND (Lancaster Co.) — Millcreek Manufacturing Company, producer of compact manure spreaders for horse owners and small farmers, announces the introduction of an 8 foot long version of its most popular small spreader.

The new Model 35 spreader features more capacity, 35 bushels, yet has the same narrow profile as its smaller cousin, allowing it to fit through narrow stable and barn doors and be taken directly to horse stalls where it is loaded with stall cleanings.

The new Model 35 spreader can be pulled behind most garden tractors and requires no special PTO attachment for spreading manure. The wheels transfer power directly to the spreading mechanism as it is pulled over the ground.

The new spreader makes stall cleaning easier and about 50 percent faster by eliminating the labor involved in hauling manure with a wheelbarrow. Additionally, the spreader eliminates the nuisance of manure piles, which create foul odors and are breeding places for flies. Another benefit is that manure spread on fields and pastures adds rich organic nutrients to soil, and the even application helps reduce the potential for runoff and leaching.



The Millcreek Model 35 compact manure spreader works with a garden tractor and fits through narrow barn doors. Loading directly at the stall, a 35 bushel load spreads in just minutes to eliminate smelly, fly-breeding manure piles, and cut stall cleaning time by about 50 percent.

Agway Ag Products Announces Appointments

SHIPPENSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Agway Agricultural Products has announced several personnel changes in the Keystone Enterprise, according to Randy Carper, vice president, sales and marketing.

Recent changes include the following:

• Robert Gallerani has been appointed dairy nutrition specialist/feed sales in Lancaster County. A 17-year veteran at Agway, Gallerani previously was in dairy and crop enterprise sales and also served as dairy herd supervisor at the Agway Research Farm in Tuly, N.Y.

• Andrew Slaugh has been appointed feed sales specialist, with enterprise sales responsibilities for customers in Lancaster County. He received his bachelor's degree in animal science from Murray State University in 1997.

• Don LeCrone has been appointed feed sales specialist, with enterprise sales responsibilities for customers in parts of Juniata and Huntingdon counties. He received his bachelor's degree in agricultural science from Penn State in 1995. Prior to joining Agway, he was a unit technician with Genex in Ithaca, N.Y.

• Tim Lehman has been appointed feed sales specialist, with enterprise sales responsibilities for customers in Lebanon County. He received his bachelor's degree in large animal science from Delaware Valley University in 1997.

Karena Is Supreme At Frederick Fair

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — Judge Ronnie Heffner took his time eyeing over the line of breed champions here at the Frederick County Fair before walking over and slapping the Jersey on the rump, proclaiming her supreme champion.

The dairy show was held at the fairgrounds during the Ag-Stravaganza at the 135th Great Frederick Fair.

"When these cows are lined up head to tail, they are just that close, and you could say a lot of good things about all of them," said Norman Hill, who judged the show with Heffner. Ultimately it was the tremendous mammary system and sharp dairyness of Gaywinds Lester Karena that gave her the edge over some stiff competition in the showring.

Karena, bred and owned by Gaywind Farm, rose to the top of her 4-year-old class and was named grand champion Jersey earlier in the day. Despite starting the day out by having a teat stepped on by another cow, she was a real trooper in the ring, according to Carol Kahler. It turns out the laceration on the cow's teat was only superficial. Carol and her husband Ed operate Gaywinds Farm in Keymar with their son Jack and his wife Stacey and their daughter Pat Beachey and husband Dave.

The Lester daughter is out of a Jersey dam still in the Gaywinds herd, Gaywinds Saint Kara, now 12 years old. Fresh in March, Carol estimates Karena is milking about 65 pounds a day. She has a 2-year-old daughter who was sold to Canada this year. She was first place 4-year-old at the State Fair 4-H show this year, and was grand champion there last year in the 4-H show. Adam Covell, the Kahler's 12-year-old grandson, usually shows Karena but was busy showing his steers when the supreme champion was selected. "He'll be quite surprised," said his grandmother. "He'll be very happy."

Following the dairy show Karena joined other breed champions relaxing in the "Milky Way" aisle of the dairy building designed to showcase the grand champion dairy animals to the general public. Other stalls in the "Milky Way" display were occupied by the senior 2-year-old Shorthorn of Stacy Hines, the 4-year-old Holstein of David Lenhart, the 3-year-old Guernsey of Karina Guyton, the aged Brown Swiss of Jennifer Keilholtz, and the 3-year-old Ayreshire of Jessica Valentine.

Sheep, Goats, Hogs Star In Sale

TIMONIUM, Md. — Market goats, lambs and hogs again brought smiles for their young owners during the 4-H and FFA livestock sale on Aug. 27 here at the 116th Maryland State Fair.

These animals sold at prices well above prevailing averages for the previous week at nearby Pennsylvania auction markets.

In addition, average and top prices for both market lambs and hogs at the Maryland sale were higher than a year ago, in contrast to the general market trends. But those Maryland youngsters with market steers sold their animals at an average price about 10 cents per pound below last year — exactly in line with the general market trend and at approximately the same prices.

The grand champion market lamb was a 130-pound Suffolk-Hampshire crossbred ewe exhibited by David J. Stickley, 17 of Flintstone, an Allegany County 4-H and FFA member. It sold for $10.75 per pound, one of the higher prices in Maryland State Fair history. The record was $25, set in 1993.

This year's grand champion market lamb was purchased by William C.F. Marlow Jr., of Towson, a board member of the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society, and his law partner, Michael Wyatt.

Jesse Rohrer, 14 of Sharpsburg (Washington County) showed his 120-pound Shropshire wether to reserve champion honors. His lamb brought $10 per pound from Wills and Associates, a Baltimore public relations firm. Jesse also had the reserve champion market lamb last year at the Maryland State Fair. And he exhibited the champion Shropshire ram in the 4-H and FFA breeding sheep show at this year's state fair.

The average price for 38 market lambs in the 4-H and FFA livestock sale was $2.13 per pound — excluding the champion and reserve champion. This compared with $1.40 per pound, on the same basis, a year ago. It was more than double the prevailing market price.

This year's grand champion market hog again was a Hampshire gilt shown by a 17-year-old Howard County 4-H member. However, the players were different — and the price and weight of the hog were significantly higher.

The 1997 winning exhibitor was Heather Rynarzewski of Morgan Station. Her 265-pound champion brought $3.75 per pound from the Greene Turtle, an Ocean City tavern. By contrast, the 1996 grand champion weighed 245 pounds and brought $3 per pound in a year when general market hog prices were significantly higher.

Cortney Hill-Dukehart, 13, of Cooksville, another Howard County 4-H member, showed the reserve champion market hog. Her 265-pound Yorkshire barrow went for $2 per pound to Hatfield Quality Meats of Hatfield, Pa. Last year's reserve champion brought $1.50 per pound from the same buyer, and it weighed 25 pounds less.

The average price for 35 market hogs was $1.63 per pound — about three times the prevailing market price. The 1996 sale average was $1.43 in a year when general market prices were significantly higher than now.

Elizabeth A. Roberts, 14, of Bryantown (Charles County) had the grand champion market goat for the second consecutive year. This year's animal — another Spanish-Boer wether — brought a grand total of $275, nearly four times the prevailing market price. Last year's champion brought $276.25, almost exactly the same price.

Richie A. Miller of Starcut Farm at Sabillasville (Frederick County) bought the grand champion market goat. The reserve champion was purchased by Gene and Sharon Swackhamer of Sparks.

This year's grand champion market steer again was an Angus shown by a Carroll County 4-H member. Jennifer Wildesen, 18, of Uniontown had this year's winner, a 1,220-pound Angus crossbred. It brought $2.10 per pound from the Stop Construction Company of Madonna (Harford County), which had purchased last year's grand champion for $3 per pound.

Eric Stonesifer, 13, of West Friendship (Howard County) showed a 1,300-pound crossbred steer to reserve champion honors. The purchase price was $1.20 per pound from Triple Creek Farm at West Friendship.

Patrick Mullinix, 16, of Daisy (Howard County) sold his 1,270-pound champion Hereford steer for $1.50 per pound to Tate Chevrolet Geo of Annapolis. The animal had been grand champion at the National Junior Polled Hereford Show in July at Fort Worth, Tex.

Ryan Downey, 16, of Donwsville (Washington County) exhibited the champion dairy steer. His 1,300-pound Holstein brought 65 cents per pound from Wheeler's DD Trucking of Norrisville (Harford County).

Average price for 17 steers in the 4-H and FFA livestock sale was 79 cents per pound — excluding the two top-selling animals. This compared with 86 cents a year ago.

Amanda C. Mills, 19, of Foxville (Frederick County) poses with her Toggenburg female that was named best doe in the show in 4-H and FFA dairy goat competition on Aug. 25 at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium. Amanda also entered LaMancha and Oberhesli breeds in the show. Holding Amanda's trophy at right is Paul Kempe of Hedgesville, W. Va., goat show judge.

METAL DETECTION

BETTER PROTECTION

Avoid damage to equipment and protect your livestock from hardware disease. Equip your New Holland forage harvester with a Metalert® III electronic metal detector.

Metalert III protects the cutterhead by stopping the feedrolls and attachment drive the moment metal enters. This option is available on New Holland forage harvester Models 790 and 900.

See us for more details.

If You're Looking For A Small Round Baler For A Small Price, See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today!

If You're in the Market For a Round Baler, Make Sure You Look At the Case IH 8420

*Many standard features you might pay extra for with other machines – features like dual tension arms side-mounted gathering wheels centrally located drive system bale counter, mechanical bale full alert and a "tailgate latched" indicator
* Make up to a 550-pound bale Requires just 30 PTO horsepower
* And, big value You can probably buy a new 8420 for what other used models would cost you

And, you get more than an economical baler We are committed to providing genuine, value-priced Case IH parts, professional and reliable service, and flexible financing

Open Throat Design to Eliminate Plugging

Case IH 8580 Center-Line Rectangular Baler

The Case International 8580 is designed for commercial producers and large hay operations that have big package needs With a 46 5" x 50 0" (1 18 x 1 27 m) bale chamber, the 8580 can form a bale up to 108" long, weighing up to 2,200 lbs (1000 kg) Just right for efficient handling, stacking and trucking

TOP-END PRODUCTION

The 8580 is no ordinary baler This system is designed for high-capacity hay production The 8580 can pack the equivalent of 20 to 40 conventional rectangular bales into a single package, and is capable of producing over 200 bales a day Also, storage requirements are actually reduced versus the equivalent tonnage of small rectangular bales This size bale is convenient for transport, and handling and stacking these bales is a snap, too They're much more manageable and stack better than round bales that are comparable in weight The best part about the 8580 though, is that it makes high-quality, weather-tight bales You won't find another line of balers that makes better quality hay It all begins with the center-line design— the same concept used on all Case International rectangular balers From the time the crop is swept up by the wide, low-profile pickup until it exits the bale chamber, it moves in a straight line The end product—a uniform bale that cures evenly for high-quality hay These bales feed better than others do, too Just cut the twine and break off as many flakes as your livestock need Or, they're easily ground or processed for feeding in either dairy or beef operations

QUALITY CONSTRUCTION

We know how critical field performance is to your success reliability is expected when buying any new piece of equipment That's why the 8580 is designed for ease of operation and built to last Its 18,700 lb weight is a testament to the amount of steel that goes into building one Its main frame, axle and hitch are high-strength, welded box-beams constructed to resist the twisting forces of rough terrain It doesn't stop there The massive gearbox transmits high torque loads, and a 460 lb flywheel absorbs and overcomes peak loads for smoother operation And, the 8580 features heavy-duty packer and stuffer fingers, as well as a heavy-duty plunger with a short 30-inch stroke length and 25 4 stroke-per-minute speed for reduced wear while being gentle on tender crops

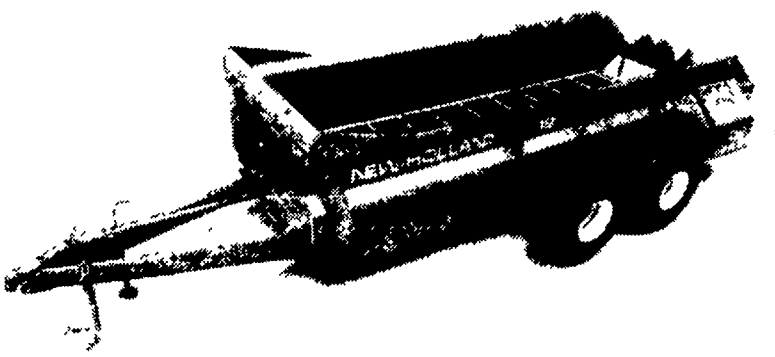
CAPACITY KING



HANDLES YOUR BIGGEST JOBS

The New Holland Model 195 box spreader is up to your biggest spreading job.

- Capacity. The "195" takes on 410 bushels (440 cu. ft.) without flinching
- Strong construction. Corrosion-resistant steels last and last. And an HDPE floor means smooth unloading, even in cold weather
- Bonded Protection warranty. If the polyethylene floor fails or the sides rust, you'll get new ones FREE for 12 years
- Fast clean out...even with this big-capacity strong box
- Large tandem oscillating wheels. Allow faster ground speeds in rough terrain, with less ground compaction.

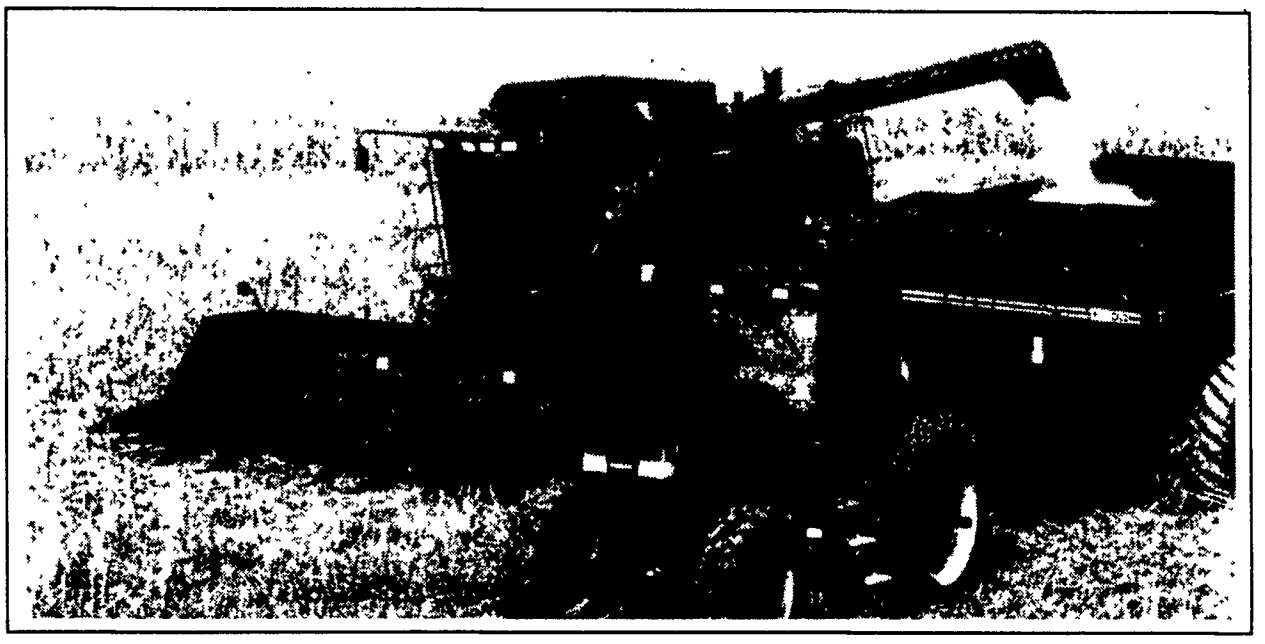
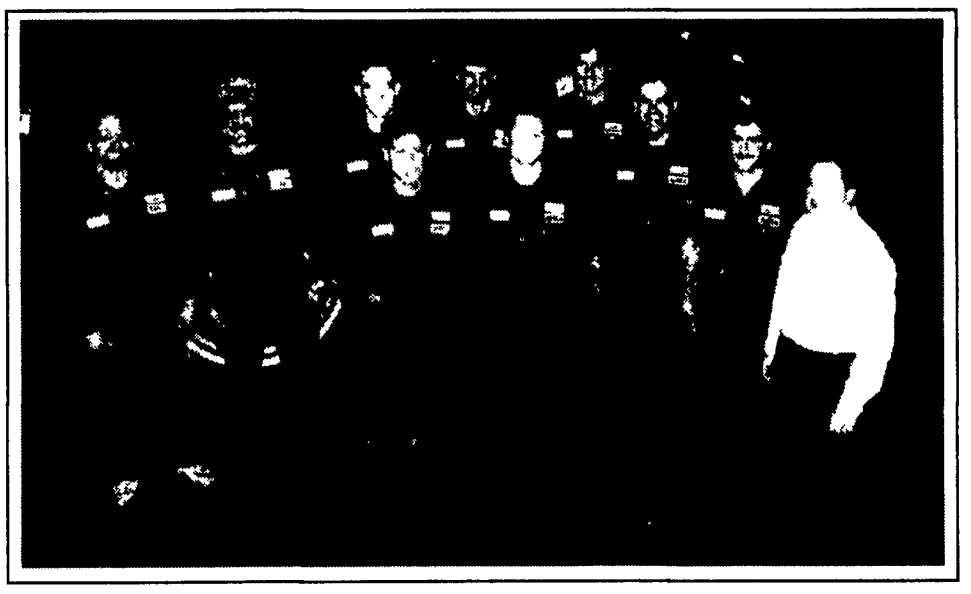
AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE

Happy 20th Birthday!
to Case IH AXIAL FLOW Combines



The Axial Flow concept was new in 1977. After twenty years the single rotor design that eliminated straw walkers and increased the threshing and separating area through the use of centrifugal force is still the same. But the technological advances in the 2100 Series make their cousins of 1978 and 1979 seem like antiques.

PRODUCTIVITY, PERFORMANCE, and PREMIUM GRAIN were the hallmarks of the axial flow combine in 1977 and they still are today - - more so because of the steady productivity and performance improvements, made over the past 20 years.



Hoober People are proud of their association with the Case IH Axial Flow combine since the beginning. Our customers know that our commitment to the Axial flow is based upon our ability to make the Axial Flow combine out perform the competition in all crop conditions.

MAKE YOUR NEXT COMBINE AN AXIAL FLOW COMBINE FROM HOOBERS.

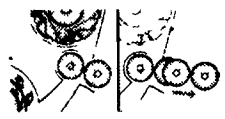
Maximum Power For Your Success

Get a beast of a deal on a new CLASS Jaguar
See your CLASS dealer for details.

The corn cracker can be changed in 5 minutes to switch from corn to hay. The Jaguar's efficient processing produces quality silage for higher milk production



The efficient cutting system has a full width metal detector, 30" wide chevron cutting drum and full width 8-blade accelerator

The unique top-to-back cooling system with rotary air screen assures excellent, clean cooling

The operator can safely sharpen the chopping knives and precisely adjust the shearbar from the driver's seat automatically

Customer Comments

- FORAGE BOXES I would not own another brand forage box- built & designed for strength - the most smooth unloading box I have ever seen - simple to replace variable speed belt when needed.
- V-TWIN SPREADERS I've had other brand spreaders that would jam up with pen packed manure. No problems with this H&S spreader. Excellent unit for topdressing pen packed manure after cuttings of hay. Come back next cutting & you never knew you hauled manure on the field. It just rips it to shreds.
- BOX-TYPE SPREADERS Full length frame - no pulling off of the box. T-Rod chain - it is the heavy weight of box-type spreader
- BI-FOLD RAKES I never raked so fast in my life - Really gentle on the hay, well built unit - I would not want to do a cutting of hay without it.

JUST RECEIVED: * 2 more forage boxes on 12 ton gears
1 - USED DION 16' w/roof on 10 Ton Gear

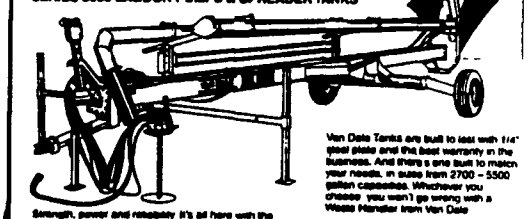
SERIES 5000 LAGOON PUMPS & SPREADER TANKS



Van Dale Tanks are built to last with 1/4" steel plate and the best warranty in the business. And there's one built to match your needs, in sizes from 2700 - 5500 gallon capacity. Whichever you choose, you won't go wrong with a Waste Handler from Van Dale Strength, power and reliability. It's all here with the new Series 5000 Lagoon Pumps. These pumps have the perfect combination of agitation volume and pressure needed to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids with speed and power. And with up to 5000 G.P.M. agitation capability, it can blast a stream of manure 100' or more in any direction to provide an easy surrounding and agitating slurry. The new Series 5000 tractor mounted or 3-point hitch, by far the fastest and easiest to operate pumps on the market.

ANTIBIOTICS DAMAGE THE IMMUNE SYSTEM
Vitamix FEEDS THE IMMUNE SYSTEM
You Can Sell The Milk
When You Use Vitamix Instead Of Antibiotics

Vitamix is for every contagious disease & every kind of infection. Support the immune system their lives depend on it.

You can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix. Vitamix is a mixture of vitamins, minerals, enzymes, electrolytes, and proteins, especially calculated to feed the immune system. Vitamix is the result of over 20 years research and over 20,000 feeding experiments. Vitamix ingredients are so micro pulverized and easily digestible that some of them melt in the mouth and are absorbed into the bloodstream while the cow is still chewing her feed. Her organs increase the output of antibodies (white cells) within minutes, and can often double the output of antibodies within one hour after consuming Vitamix, and you can get Vitamix without a prescription. Vitamix is all natural. You just put Vitamix in the feed whenever there are symptoms of a contagious disease or infection.

The cow's immune system can cure any and every kind of contagious disease and infection quicker, safer, more consistently than any medical drug in the world when you support the immune system. The immune system is the only real defense. I keep cows and horses for feeding experiments.The last tlme I used an antibiotic was in 1984 and haven't lost a cow, calf or horse since I quit using antibiotics.

Any time any human or animal gets a contagious disease or any kind of infection, it is for one reason, and one reason only; The immune system failed to do an adequate job of defending against it. In other words, the immune system let you down.

Every time you use antibiotics, sulfa drug or an immune stimulator; you weaken the immune system. See the Physicians Desk Reference (PDR) for more information on the side effects of antibiotics. The information in the PDR was provided by the drug companies that make the drugs as required by law.

Shouldn't we be feeding the immune system instead? Support the immune system. Their lives and health depend on it. Feed Vitamix every time for every contagious disease or infection.

Vitamix is the best procedure in the world for Mastitis. It is quick and easy and you can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix.

How long does it take when you take the "Support the immune system approach?" I have seen calves that were down, had high fever, bloody scours and were dehydrated. One needed help to hold its head up. The only thing I gave them was Vitamix and water. In three hours, I had to run them down and get them cornered to give the Vitamix. Dairymen tell me that Vitamix is faster than anything else they ever used.

When there is a serious case of anything contagious or infectious; I give Vitamix once an hour for three hours, or until they are back on their feed and doing noticeably better. I continue Vitamix six times daily for a few days. Vitamix typically costs only $2 to $3 a day for a cow (less for a calf). The total cost for one cow for one illness is typically $8 to $10 from start to finish.

Vitamix costs less than antibiotics, and you can get it without a prescription. Vitamix is completely drug free!!! You can sell the milk when you use Vitamix!!! (When you use antibiotics, you pour the milk out for 5 days, sometimes more. You risk making a mistake and pouring all your milk out for 5 days or more.)

You save money Every Time you use Vitamix. Get some Vitamix now to keep on hand. Use Vitamix as soon as you see symptoms of anything contagious or infectious. You will know you did the right thing within hours.

Preventing and curing all contagious disease and infections boils down to this. Increasing the capacity to produce white cells (Antibodies). All white cells are made by the bone marrow. Antibiotics cause "bone marrow depression" thereby reducing its ability to make white cells to fight diseases and infection (See Physician's Desk Reference Book [PDR]).

I have done over 20,000 feeding experiments on healing the body, and have yet to find an incurable contagious disease or infection.

Why sit around waiting for a miracle? You can order Vitamix right now. Miracles are great and they do happen now and then; if you wait around one might happen for you. But the immune system is a miracle. You can order Vitamix today and keep it on hand, then you will have it when you need it.

Vitamix ...when you need a miracle. The best source of information about Vitamix is people who have used it. Ask a friend about Vitamix.

Foal's Paradise Farm Wins At Devon

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Foal's Paradise Farm, a sporthorse breeding and boarding center in Ephrata, has confirmed Lancaster County's place on the map as a not-to-be-missed destination for anyone seriously interested in top quality sporthorses.

In only its second show season, and for the second year in a row, Foal's Paradise brought home top honors from Dressage at Devon, the nation's premiere sporthorse breed show.

On Sept. 23-24, Foal's Paradise accomplished what its owners, Richard Caplan and Mary Huwaldt, had only dreamed of. The farm, a fledgling breeding operation whose mission is to produce superior sporthorses, took only two of its six horses to the show — M. Ecloir ("Claire," as she is known around the stable), a 3-year-old Dutch Warmblood filly, and Osiris, a yearling Dutch Warmblood colt. The two youngsters were judged, respectively, young horse grand champion and young horse reserve grand champion. Not only were they considered the best two young horses at the show, but Claire went on to be crowned reserve grand champion of more than 400 top mature and young horses from California to New England.

For the second year in a row, Claire was found to be the East Coast Breeders young horse champion, which means she was placed the highest of the champion and reserve champion of five nationally recognized East Coast breed shows. Also, Claire won the blue ribbon in the 3-year-old fillies class and was filly champion. Osiris also won the blue in his yearling colts class, and took home the tricolor as colt champion.

Judged by international Olympic level judges from Denmark, Poland, and the United States, both horses were found to have superior conformation, movement, temperament, and athleticism. Claire is now in foal to Idocus, a nationally recognized Dutch Warmblood stallion. The farm expects to have its first crop of foals next spring.

On a related note, Litigator, Foal's Paradise's 4-year-old Dutch Warmblood stallion, has continued his successful show season. 'Gator, who is in training with Belinda Nairn and Kate Fenstermaker at Kirkwood, had an outstanding winter in Florida, winning the majority of the classes he entered, and bringing home exceptionally high dressage scores in excess of 80 percent. He continued his success over the summer in the Northeast, with impressive results at Upper Marlboro, Md., and winning the high score at Dressage at Lexington, Va.

For more information on Foal's Paradise Farm or its breeding program, call (717) 738-4715.

ASA, DuPont Ag Products Seek Young Leader Nominations

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The American Soybean Association (ASA) and DuPont Agricultural Products are seeking nominees for the 1998 ASA-DuPont Young Leader Program.

The Young Leader Program is designed to cultivate active, interested leaders who will add vision, initiative, and enthusiasm to the soybean and agricultural industries.

Entering its 15th year, the program identifies farm leaders who are dedicated to agriculture and encourages their involvement in ASA and the ag industry at large. ASA and DuPont are looking for people who are "young" in leadership. Actual age is not a factor.

The Young Leader Program has a tremendous record of success. Many of the past ASA-DuPont Young Leaders serve as national officers and board members of ASA. More than half now serve on their state soybean associations or soybean promotion boards, and many other Young Leaders and program nominees fulfill leadership roles in other organizations at the state or national level.

The 1998 class of ASA-DuPont Young Leaders will enjoy a program with a strong heritage and new opportunities for education and development.

To nominate an individual, a farm couple, or yourself as a candidate for the Young Leader Program, contact the American Soybean Association (800) 688-7692 or your state soybean association.

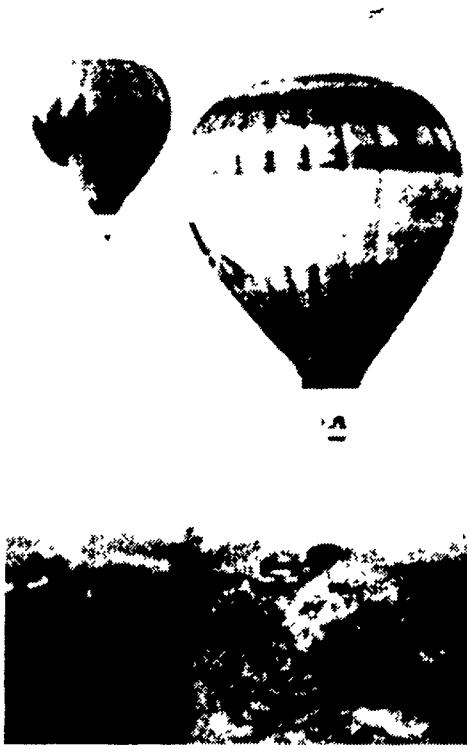
OCTOBER IS CO-OP MONTH

WHEN IT COMES TO DESCRIBING AMERICA'S CO-OPS, THE SKY'S THE LIMIT



The nation's 47,000 co-operatives are big and small. They serve 120 million people in all 50 states. And, they're located everywhere - cities, towns, suburbs and throughout rural America.

Providing goods and services as economically and efficiently as possible is their first order of business. And as locally owned and controlled businesses, co-ops are unique because of their commitment not only to the people they serve but also to their communities.

You'll find co-ops for credit and financing, electric and telephone service, insurance, housing, day care, health care, food, farm marketing and supply, news services, florists and much more.

For years co-op have been expanding horizons for the people they serve. In their own words: "It's just good business, and it works for the benefit of our neighbors, our communities and for our country too."

The Milk Cooperatives serving the dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York and Virginia are proud to be a part of this great cooperative enterprise.

NATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW CODE OF CONDUCT (PART 3 OF 5) — THE CODE

Often the best thing about not saying anything is that it can't be repeated.
— Suzan L. Wiener

Editor's Note: Part three in this series will provide the reader with rules numbered 6 through 17 in the proposed National Livestock Show Code of Conduct.

Notice this is a listing of guidelines that all exhibitors must follow to enter livestock at organized competitive events. As the steering committee for the Pennsylvania Code of Ethics Program for Animal Exhibitions plans to implement a uniform set of guidelines for events specifically in Pennsylvania, it is important for participants to understand some of the local, regional, and especially national guidelines that will influence the final guidelines for Pennsylvania.

The original, unedited initial document will be provided in this series of articles. Responsible comment is invited and welcome.

This code of ethics applies to anyone exhibiting animals at livestock shows in the United States. It includes junior as well as open class exhibitors who compete in structured classes of competition. All classes of livestock offered at the livestock event are included: cattle, (beef and dairy), goats, (Angora, Boer, dairy, meat, Cashmere), equine, (donkey, horses, mules), llamas and other specialty animals, poultry, rabbits, sheep, swine, and any other livestock classes offered.

This "National Livestock Show Code of Conduct" will be enhanced with additional rules and regulations which individual fairs and livestock shows impose on the local, county, state, regional, and national levels.

The following practices or procedures are unacceptable and are defined as being deceptive, fraudulent, unethical, and inhumane in the care, fitting, preparation and showing of all classes of livestock. The use of any illegal drugs is considered a premeditated act! Furthermore, any information obtained in the practice of illegal alteration of an animal will be turned over to the proper authorities for criminal prosecution.

This is a one-strike-and-you-are-out policy! Owners, exhibitors, fitters, trainers, and absolutely responsible persons who violate the code of conduct demean the integrity of all livestock exhibitors and will forfeit any premium, awards, or auction proceeds, and will be prohibited from further competition at shows in the United States, in accordance with the rules adopted by the respective fairs and livestock shows, as well as being subject to criminal prosecution if proven guilty.

It is recognized there are certain practices in the proper care and management of animals that are necessary in the course of moving them to and between shows that are advisable to keep them in a sound healthy state so they might be presented in the show ring in a natural, normal condition. Conversely, the following practices or procedures are considered unacceptable. The following is a listing of guidelines all exhibitors must follow to enter livestock at organized competitive events:

6) Treating an animal internally or externally, with any irritant, counterirritant, or other substance used to artificially change the conformation or appearance of an animal for show is considered unethical, inhumane, and is prohibited. This includes, but not limited to the use of graphite, powders, hemp, artificial hair coloring, common products such as fly spray, ointment, or liniment used to the point that it is irritating (unless required to reduce edema at time of calving) or similar type products. Any surgical procedure or injection of any foreign substance or drug or the external application of any substance (irritant, counterirritant, or similar substance) which could affect the animal's performance or alter its natural contour, conformation, or appearance, except external applications of substances to the hoofs or horns of animals which affect appearance only and except for surgical procedures performed by a duly licensed veterinarian for the sole purpose of protecting the health of the animal, is prohibited. The use of dyes, spray paint, or other artificial coloring which result in altering an animal's true and natural appearance and/or hair or skin color is prohibited. Any false hair to hair-like material, fleece or skin at any point, spot or area of the animal's body is illegal and will result in immediate disqualification. Any liquid or substance not considered part of an accepted and normal diet for livestock is deemed illegal and inhumane. For example, the use of alcoholic or carbonated beverages as a drench or filler etc.

7) The use of showing and/or handling practices or devices such as striking animals to cause swelling, using electrical contrivance, or other similar practices are not acceptable and are prohibited.

8) The use of tranquilizers, sedatives, or depressants, which alter the physical or physiological state of the animal, is illegal. Exceptions to this rule would be a licensed, certified veterinarian's treatment for a recognized disease or injury, or recommendation for tranquilizing breeding animals in heat that might compromise the safety of others. The drugs must be approved by The Food and Drug Administration for use in meat-producing animals. All exhibitors shall advise show management of any drugs and/or medications administered to an animal that might be detected at the time of showing or at meat inspection. The name of the drug, its purpose, the person who administered the drug, time and date or administration shall be presented to show management, prior to the showing and sale of the animal. Failure to report this information to the show management will result in severe penalty and/or disqualification. Any use of drugs or substances not approved by the Food and Drug Administration is strictly prohibited. All animals entered into livestock competition shall be subject to testing for foreign substances that exceed acceptable levels established by the FDA, FSIS, USDA, or EPA.

During the livestock events, in the case of animals requiring treatment, all medications shall be administered by a licensed veterinarian and the livestock show officials shall be notified.

9) Surgery, injection or insertion of foreign material under the skin and/or into the flesh of an animal to change the natural contour, conformation or appearance of an animal's body is illegal. This includes vegetable oil, silicon or any other substance used to after the shape of the animal. Acceptable practices of physical preparation which are allow include, clipping of hair, trimming of hooves, dehorning, or removal of ancillary teats.

10) The balancing of the udder by abnormal means that includes the use of a mechanical contrivance or the injection of fluid or drugs, setting the teats and/or occluding (sealing the ends) with a mechanical contrivance or with the use of a chemical preparation is illegal. Treating or massaging the udder or its attachments with an irritant or counter irritant is prohibited.

11) The use of inhumane fitting, showing, and/or handling practices or devices shall not be tolerated. For example, breaking of tails, striking of the animal to cause swelling or for bracing purposes, use of an electrical contrivance, or use of overly severe bits is not acceptable.

12) Direct criticism of interference with the judge, show management, other exhibitors, breed representatives, or show officials before, during, or after the competitive event is prohibited.

In the furtherance of their official duty, all judges, fair and livestock show management, or other show officials shall be treated with courtesy, cooperation and respect and no person shall direct abusive or threatening conduct toward them.

13) No owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person shall conspire with another person or persons to intentionally violate this code of ethics or knowingly contribute or cooperate with another person or persons either by affirmative action or inaction to violate this code of ethics. Violation of this rule shall subject such individual to disciplinary action.

14) The application of this code of ethics provides for absolute

Frederick 4-H Sale Raises More Than $216,000

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — The Frederick County 4-H beef, sheep, and swine sale raised more than $216,000 for members during the club's annual livestock auction. The sale was held in the beef show ring at the fairgrounds during the Great Frederick Fair.

Hogs averaged $1.88 on 75 head, lambs $3.53 on 56 head, and steers $1.36 on 82 head, according to Ed Wachter, sales committee chair.

Bradley Stevens of Union Bridge sold his grand champion market hog to Horseland USA for $6.50 per pound. The Hampshire gilt, nicknamed "B.L.T.," weighed 257 pounds.

The reserve champion hog was another Hampshire gilt, this one owned by Daryl Hood of Union Bridge. The 225-pound gilt brought $3.50 per pound from F&M Bank.

Aaron "Bud" Mathews of Mt. Pleasant sold his grand champion 113-pound Hampshire wether to Frall Developers for $16 per pound.

The reserve champion market lamb owned by Kirra Pilson Thurmont, was also best bred-and-owned lamb. The 107-pound Hampshire wether was purchased by F&M Bank for $17 per pound.

A consortium of 27 buyers pooled their resources to offer a top bid of $41 per pound for Amy Mathews' Miller lamb. Proceeds from the sale of the lamb raised by Mathews of Frederick go to the Frederick County Therapeutic Riding Program.

Sarah Wiles of Middletown sold her grand champion steer "Blackie," a 1,210-pound Maine-Anjou cross, to Frank Kennedy Ford of Middletown. The crossbred steer brought $7.75 per pound.

The reserve champion steer, also a crossbred, was bred and raised by Jacob Wolfrey of Frederick. "Beast" weighed 1,170 pounds and was purchased by Giant Food for $4.50 per pound.

The E.V. Moser/ Middletown Concrete steer was raised by Jessica Willis of Union Bridge. The 1,195-pound steer sold to a syndicate of 11 buyers for $21 per pound. The money is being donated to the Frederick Rescue Mission. Included in the purchase money was $130 from Jacob Wolfrey, the boy who had the reserve champion steer.

In all, 213 animals went through the sale ring. Auctioneers for the evening event were Skip Zimmerman, Walter Gordon, Ronnie Harshman, and Dennis Remsburg.

New John Deere Advantage Tractors

INTRODUCING THE ADVANTAGE SERIES FROM JOHN DEERE

Introducing the new Advantage Series Tractors from John Deere. Three models that make it easier than ever to own John Deere quality.

Simply compare these open-station tractors side by side to their low-cost competitors, and you'll quickly see there is no comparison. All feature proven, high-torque John Deere engines that many farmers say will outpull higher-horsepower engines. Both the 12-speed SyncroVantage™ transmission (on the 85-hp 6405 and 95-hp 6605) and the 16-speed PowrQuad™ transmission (on the 105-hp 7405) offer more shifting ease. HydraVantage™ hydraulics deliver up to 70 percent more flow for faster cycles and higher lift capacities. Electrohydraulic hitch controls are more precise and easier to adjust than mechanical controls. Flat operator platforms with console-mounted controls offer more comfort and convenience. PermaClutch 2™ provides greater clutch reliability. And larger fuel tanks let you work longer between fill-ups.

4-H District Junior Dairy Show Awards Exhibitors

PITTSFIELD (Warren Co.) — The Northwest Pennsylvania District 4-H Junior Dairy Show was held Aug. 30 here at the Warren County Fairgrounds.

More than 100 exhibitors from Crawford, Erie, Mercer, Clarion, Jefferson, McKean, Lawrence, Venango, and Warren counties showed about 200 animals.

In the Ayrshire show, the grand champion was a 2-year-old cow shown by Katie Allen of Conneaut Lake, Crawford County. The reserve champion Ayrshire was a 6-year-old dry cow shown by Jennie Campbell of Conneaut Lake, Crawford County. The junior champion Ayrshire and the best bred and owned Ayrshire of the show was a fall calf owned and shown by Bradley Meabon of Wattsburg, Erie County.

The Brown Swiss show had some quality animals. The grand champion was a 7-year-old aged cow shown by Andrea Irons of Smethport, McKean County. The reserve champion was a senior 2-year-old shown by Erin Raney of Adamsville, Crawford County. The junior champion Brown Swiss was a summer yearling owned and shown by Bradford Deeter of Utica, Venango County. His animal was also selected as the junior best bred and owned. The reserve junior champion was a winter yearling heifer shown by Clinton Miller, of Spartansburg, Crawford County. Holly Deeter of Utica, Venango County, showed her senior 3-year-old cow to the best bred and owned of show and senior best bred and owned.

The Guernsey grand champion was a 6-year-old cow shown by Emilie Smith of Centerville, Crawford County. The reserve champion was a 4-year-old Guernsey cow shown by Carrie Smith of Centerville, Crawford County. Carrie also won the senior and best bred and owned of the show with her animal. Junior champion was a spring yearling shown by David chapman of Waterford, Erie County.

In the Holstein show, the grand champion was a 5-year-old cow shown by Joel Alsdorf of Spartansburg, Crawford County. Joel also received the reserve grand champion honors with a 6-year-old aged cow. To have both champions in a big show is quite a feat. This junior champion Holstein was a winter calf owned and shown by Holly Deter of Utica, Venango County. Holly also earned junior best bred and owned of the show with her animal. Maggie Moore of Mercer, Mercer County showed her winter yearling heifer to reserve junior champion honors. The best bred and owned Holstein of the show was a senior 3-year-old cow of Rebecca Gruber of Sugar Grove, Warren county. She also earned senior best bred and owned honors.

Winning grand champion in the Jersey Show was Jennifer Miller of Cambridge Springs, Crawford County, with a 5-year-old cow. Reserve champion honors went to Emily Alsdorf of Spartansburg, Crawford County, with a junior 3-year-old cow. The junior champion was a winter calf shown by Lynde Vanderstappen of Transfer, Mercer County. The reserve junior champion was another winter calf shown by Barbara Deeter of Utica, Venango County. Jason Alsdorf os Spartansburg, Crawford County had the junior best bred and owned animal, a fall calf. The senior best bred and owned and best overall was a senior 2-year-old owned and show by Jason Miller of Cambridge Springs, Crawford County.

In the county group competitions, 4-H'ers were to preselect four animals to compete in each breed. Here are the county winners for each breed.

Ayrshire - 1. Crawford County.

Brown Swiss - 1. McKean County, 2. Erie County.

Guernsey - 1. Crawford County.

Holstein - 1. Crawford County, 2. Mercer County, 3. Warren County.

Jersey - 1. Crawford County, 2. Erie County, 3. Warren County.

The type judges for the district show were Ron Buffington of Columbus, Ohio and Gary Culbertson of Richfield Springs, N.Y. The showmanship judges were Dennis Carlberg of Frewsburg, N.Y. and Tom Smallback of Cherry Creek, N.Y.

responsibility for an animal's condition by an owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or participant whether or not he or she was actually instrumental in or had actual knowledge of the treatment of the animal in contravention of this code of ethics.

15) The act of entering of an animal in a fair of livestock show is the giving of verification by the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person that he or she has read the National Livestock Show Code of Conduct and understands the consequences of and penalties provided for actions prohibited by the code. It is further a consent than any action which contravenes these rules and is also in violation of federal, state, or provincial statutes, regulations, or rules may be released to appropriate law enforcement authorities with jurisdiction over such infractions.

16) At the time an animal is sold at auction at the livestock show, the exhibitor shall be held directly responsible for animals that are rejected at a processing center due to the presence of foreign residues. The seller may be liable to the buyer for an amount equal to three times the purchase price and may also be liable for attorney's fees and civil penalties. Show Management may share acceptable intelligence and evidence information with FDA and USDA. If for any reason, any part of a meat animal carcass must be removed by the FDA or USDA inspectors, the market price will be discounted.

17) Show management reserves the night to require animal health certificates. Health inspections and diagnosis tests may be made before or after animals are on the livestock show premises for exhibitor and animal safety, or to inaugurate disease control procedures which may become necessary in emergencies as determined by animal health officials.

Any violation of "National Livestock Show Code of Conduct" or specific rules as designated by individual fairs and livestock shows will result in forfeiture of premiums and awards, disqualification, and may result in probationary status and/or loss of eligibility for future participation in organized livestock competition. Possible civil penalties may be imposed by the proper authorities based on evidence provided by the livestock show of exhibitors in violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act/or the animal mistreatment, neglect, and abandonment laws that apply on the local, state, and national levels.

Other cooperating shows will be notified of the action taken by show management, which may affect the eligibility of the individual group or sponsoring organization for participation at other shows. The decision of the livestock show management will be final.

Plant Cover Crop

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J. — "Erosion on crop fields could reach high levels during the next six months," said John Metrick, a soil conservationist with the USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) in Hackettstown.

"Many corn silage and vegetable fields will have little or no protective cover during the upcoming winter months. This is a period when high erosion occurs because of rain, saturated soil conditions, and the freezing-thawing process. Many rills and gullies are created during the late winter early spring months," said Metrick.

Thin layers of topsoil, the thickness of this newspaper, "float" away to unwanted locations. This results in the loss of valuable topsoil from the field and sediment build up along field edges, in road ditches, and in stream channels.

By planting an inexpensive cover such as rye, farmers can provide some erosion protection for their fields. The ground cover helps to lessen the impact of the rain drops and serves as an obstacle in overland water flow.

The cover crop also provides many other benefits, too. It can take up unused fertilizer from this year's growing season protecting the ground water. Incorporated into the soil next spring, it can increase the organic matter level. As a forage, it can be either grazed or chopped for silage in the spring.

For more information about cover cropping, farmers can call the Natural Resource Conservation Service at (908) 852-5450.

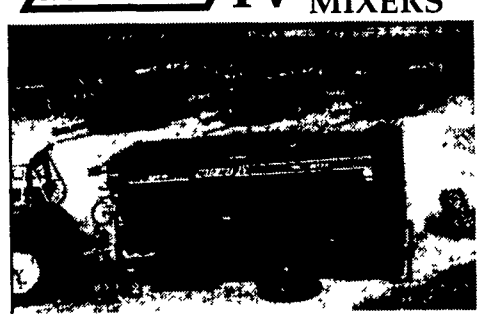
ROTO-MIX IV FEED MIXERS


With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots. The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration.
The ROTO-MIX end-to-end .. side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.
Trailer Models Available For Demo

The JUG

Self-cleaning
The JUG is designed so that debris and feed are sucked up from the feed trap in the bowl with each watering debris won t foul the water

Low-maintenance
Light-tight design so that algae and odors won't build up in the JUG's interior

Animals adapt easily
The JUG is designed so that animals, even calves, can suck water naturally, no balls or flaps to get in the way

Meets requirements for dairy approval.

The JUG is manufactured by Edstrom Industries which has 25 years experience designing watering devices for animals

WHY MORE POULTRY GROWERS ARE CHOOSING THE POULTRY HOUSEKEEPER.
- Removes caked or wet litter while leaving dry litter in the house.
- Aerates and fluffs the remaining litter to reduce ammonia and improve drying time.
- Stock piles or spreads litter after leaving the poultry house
- Completely cleans out your poultry house when needed.
- Loads new litter outside the house and spreads it back in the house.
- 100% Hydraulic - No cumbersome PTO shafts

PURINA DAIRY HERD PROFILE

The GOAL is Herd HEALTH

For the father and son partnership of Dennis and Doug Smith at D&D Dry Creek Farms, Martinsburg, the goal is herd health. "If cows feel good, they will feel like giving more milk," Doug said.

With a rolling herd average on the last test of 24,076m, and individual records over 30,000m, these cows must feel good. The daily average per cow on the 130 Registered Holsteins is 79.8 lbs.

Since switching to Purina several years ago, the herd average has increased 1,000 lbs. of milk with special improvement on production and health for the two year-olds that enter the herd. Some of these young cows produce right up there with their older sisters and milk over 100 lbs. per day.

What Dennis and Doug especially like is the high density feeds provided by Purina. With this higher energy feed they can lower the total pounds of grain they feed and increase the home grown forages. This gives them healthier cows and a lower feed cost as a bonus.

The herd is fed as one group with a TMR mix of haylage, corn silage, dried shelled corn and Maxi Tech 40. The herd consistently ranks among the best herds on DHIA in Blair County. Total production last year was 2.7 million pounds.

The Purina team that works with the Dry Creek herd includes Bedford Farm Bureau, Scott Waugerman, farm consultant; Rob Hinton, dairy specialist; and Andy Krug, dairy specialist.
